

Ecology Hearing: A Promise

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State voters have been promised a detailed accounting of how the money in the proposed $1.2-billion environmental bond issue would be spent.

Assemblyman Clarence D. Lane, R-Windham, and Senator Bernard C. Smith, R-Northport, made the promise Wednesday as the legislature's conservation committees held their first joint hearing on the measure.

The two are the committee chairmen and introduced the bond proposal last week.

A contingent from Ulster County including several town government officials, former Ulster County environmental sanitary engineer, Harry Edinger and Augustus Brinnier of Brinnier and Laros, Civil engineers attended the hearing.

Their mission was in support of the bond issue which they see as the only means of financially aiding town and city sewerage systems.

Lane said a "very detailed, very specific" bill itemizing the bond money would be drawn up to answer the questions of those who wanted more information about it.

"We've had some unfortunate experiences with bond issues in this state, and we're not going to let that happen with this most important one," Lane said.

The detailed itemization will be available soon after the committees complete a round of hearings on the bill in Buffalo, New York City and Long Island, he added.

As the bond issue proposal stands now, the money is broken down into broad, general categories, all but one in lumps of $8 million or more.

The measure would provide $650 million for water-pollution control, $150 million for air-pollution control, $127 million for purchasing and protecting land resources, $132 million for outdoor recreation and $140 million for solid-waste disposal.

Backers of the plan at the hearing Wednesday were anxious to draw distinctions between this bond proposal and Gov. Rockefeller's $2.5-billion transportation bond issue, which went down to overwhelming defeat at the hands of the voters last November.

Environmental Conservation Commissioner Henry L. Diamond, for example, noted pointedly that the bond program is "prospective, not retrospective. But more bluntly, we are not paying for anything already done."

Gov. Rockefeller had planned on the transportation bond issue to plug a $400-million hole in the state budget, and its defeat was one reason the legislature was called into session to enact new taxes in December.

Related State Legislature stories on Page 2.

A string of witnesses praised the bond issue before the packed hearing Wednesday. Most said they wanted more details, and some said they had reservations about parts of the proposal as it is now drawn.

Diamond, the first witness, gave a slide show with charts illustrating the outlines of the spending proposal, photographs of Mount March in the Adirondacks and of a smokestack belching pollution into the air, and maps showing the placement of new sewage treatment facilities.

If the bond issue is approved, he said, New York State will have "the best water-pollution control system in the world."

He added, "we're not going to over-promise. This is not going to turn New York State into the Garden of Eden."

He said that 352 sewage treatment plants were built or are under construction because of the $1-billion pure waters bond issue of 1965.

Most of the state's waters now meet state standards, Diamond said, but "some of the most difficult are yet to be done" and money is needed from the new bond issue to build about 250 more sewage plants.

The state also needs bond-issue money to stop air pollution from municipal boilers and incinerators, and to buy up wetlands on Long Island and forest wilderness in the Adirondacks and Catskills "before this opportunity is lost forever," Diamond declared.

Mayor Erastus Corning of Albany gave his "unqualified support" to the bond issue but suggested that the state take over the job of finding solutions to solid-waste problems instead of giving grants for that purpose to localities.

"We are beset with people who would sell us hardware to treat solid waste," Corning said, adding that the situation could become worse if the localities had more to spend on the hardware.

Corning and Donald McClanahan of the Schenectady County Environmental Advisory Council criticized the bond proposal for providing grants to localities to buy landfills.

Corning said that provision could lead to the bond issue's defeat in rural communities that would be the site of landfills.

McClanahan said the state should spend its money on developing methods of recycling solid waste rather than on establishing landfills which "serve merely to postpone the problem."

Price Commission Tightens Its Grip

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Price Commission, concluding that it is not holding down inflation enough, has announced a significant tightening of one of its major price rules.

It reduced from two per cent to one and eight-tenths per cent the maximum average price increase which it will allow companies to get under its Term Limit Pricing agreements.

A commission spokesman said Wednesday that was done after in depth economic studies prepared by commission staff members showed the commission's policies were not meeting President Nixon's goal of winding down inflation to a rate of two and five-tenths per cent by the end of this year.

The new, more stringent pricing rule will not apply to the 120 big firms that have already agreed to hold their prices to an average of two per cent or less, or to firms already in direct negotiation with the Price Commission for such an agreement.

Under Term Limit Pricing, or TLP as it is called, large firms agree to an average limit on all their products, rather than item-by-item ceilings that otherwise would apply.

In return for the price flexibility this gives them, they agreed to a lower over-all average than they might otherwise be able to win on the basis of their costs.

Previously, the over-all average ceiling for TLP agreements was two per cent. The new ceiling is one and eight-tenths per cent, with a maximum eight per cent lid on any single product line.

The surprise move was decided last week by unanimous vote of the full commission, a spokesman said.

It marks a significant turning point in Price Commission policy. Previously, Commission Chairman C. Jackson Graydon Jr., had insisted repeatedly that the commission was "on course" towards its goal of a two and five-tenths per cent inflation rate this year.

The Price Commission conducted numerous economic studies most prepared by its price statistics and analysis division, in an attempt to find ways to exert a downward pressure on prices.

Included in the commission's studies was an assessment of the relative impact of price increases by companies with sales of $50 million a year or more on the total economy. No action, however, was taken on that study.

Commission officials would not reveal data collected in the studies, although it was reported that the studies projected possible increases in service and utility prices, as well as prices that are currently exempted from controls.

Other moves to hold down the steadily advancing inflationary spiral are expected shortly.

3rd E-Z Store Heist

By WALTER S. CLARK

LAKE KATRINE

Area authorities combined efforts today in a search for a gunman sought for questioning in connection with an armed robbery of two clerks at the E-Z Shop Food Store in Lake Katrine. It was the third holdup at the business place within the last six months.

The robber fled with two cash drawers taken from the store that contained between $100 and $150 in cash.

According to Senior BCI Investigator Michael Lisman of the Hurley State Police zone headquarters, Steve Johnson of Red Hook and another unidentified clerk were in the store at about 9:45 p.m. Wednesday, when a lone man entered brandishing a small handgun and demanded money.

Within minutes the suspect took the cash drawers and ran from the store. He fled for some distance on foot, but authorities said it had been established that the man left the area in a light colored car. He is described as between 20 and 22 years of age, white, with dark hair, moderately long. He wore dark clothes.

Roadblocks were set up throughout the area as the hunt for the gunman was pressed.

Last Sept. 17, three white men, one carrying a small revolver, walked into the E-Z Shop on Leggs Mills Road at Neighborhood Road, and held up the clerk, Raymond Dean of Pittsfield, Mass., at gunpoint, a getaway with $270 in cash.

The other robbery at the E-Z Shop occurred on the night of Nov. 2, 1971. At that time two long-haired bearded men entered the food store and confronted a clerk, Stephen Ryder, who was working alone. The pair, both white, held the clerk at bay and later made a getaway with $270 in cash.

U.S. Planes Aid S. Viets As Reds Launch Attacks

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist troops late Wednesday and early today launched their heaviest series of attacks inside South Vietnam in more than five months, military spokesmen said.

The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese staged 41 shelling and ground attacks against government troops and civilians and a single mortar barrage on a U.S. base camp, they said.

As the Communists began their attacks Wednesday evening, U.S. warplanes swept into North Vietnam on two "protective reaction" missions, firing missiles at Communist anti-aircraft sites.

South Vietnamese civilians bore the brunt of the Communist ground attacks, most of which occurred in the republic's northern quarter just below the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

The Communists wounded one American soldier early today with a 23-round mortar barrage on base camp Viking, just five miles west of Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city. The heaviest Communist assaults were in Quang Ngai Province, centered 320 miles north of Saigon.

In southern Quang Ngai, Viet

Cong forces stormed a militia outpost, killing seven troops and wounding six, while suffering no casualties.

Wednesday afternoon, three six-foot-long rockets smashed into the provincial capital of Quang Ngai, a city of 41,500. Four civilians died and 27 were wounded.

Terrorists later Wednesday set off a mine in front of a civilian home in Duc Pho district capital in the same province, killing 10 civilians and five militiamen stationed outside the house. Another nine civilians were wounded, military spokesmen said.

In Binh Dinh Province a series of battles killed 10 Communists and five government militiamen and wounded 12 militia men.

In Cambodia, a main ammunition depot at Phnom Penh's Pachtong Airport exploded today, sending columns of flames and smoke hundreds of feet in the air. There was no immediate report of casualties and the cause of the explosion was not immediately determined. The airport, located 3 1/2 miles from downtown Phnom Penh, was ordered closed.

The U.S. command said last week's casualties to American troops were the lowest of the year in the Indochina War. Two soldiers died and 19 other servicemen were wounded in action, including four airmen wounded over Laos.

The South Vietnamese command said 284 of its troops were killed and 698 wounded. The allies claimed killing 1,025 Communists.

Inspection of POW Camps Proposed by Porter at Talks

PARIS (AP) — The United States asked the Vietnamese Communists today to agree to impartial inspection of prisoner of war camps in return for a mutual understanding that there would be no further efforts made to free prisoners.

The proposal was made by U.S. Ambassador William J. Porter at the Vietnam peace conference, the first in three weeks.

The Communists gave no immediate response to Porter's proposal.

North Vietnam has banned inspection of prisoner camps, saying it fears that even neutral inspectors would give information to the United States permitting more commando raids in an effort to free the prisoners.

A raid was conducted by the United States at Son Tay, North Vietnam, in late 1970. No prisoners were found.

Porter opened the session by telling the North Vietnamese their attitude toward the rights of prisoners of war is a "monumental policy error" and added:

"Your disregard of your agreement to observe the Geneva Convention has earned you a reputation for irresponsibility and inhumanity. You are the sole violators of this international convention. Your record with respect to the prisoners of war brings into question the worth of any commitment you may make."

North Vietnam again protested American air raids on the North. Nguyen Minh Vy said that for 11 consecutive days starting March 1, "American planes launched repeated raids ... causing many dead and wounded among the civilian population, for the most part women, children and aged persons. Even yesterday, these raids continued."

The peace talks last met on Feb. 24, but the Communists walked out after 17 minutes to protest earlier American air raids. The United States had canceled the session the week before because of an anti-American peace meeting at Versailles.

UNUSUAL SCREENING — Four New York State assemblymen and a film producer review a new and unusual movie "One Approach" which was previewed before legislators and other interested parties at the State Capitol in Albany recently. The film, depicting a self-help drug rehabilitation program known as the "Renaissance Project" in Ellenville, was produced on location at the project. Seen here are, from left, standing, Don MacIsaac, co-producer of the film; Assemblyman Benjamin A. Gilman (R-Orange County); Assemblyman H. Clark Bell (R-Woodstock) in whose Assembly District the movie was filmed; seated, Assemblyman Chester R. Hardt (R-Erie County), chairman of the Temporary State Commission to Evaluate the Drug Law; and Assemblyman Joseph R. Pisani (R-Westchester County), one of the founders of the Renaissance project.

Election Ban Bill Ruffles Dem Feathers

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Race and religion ruffled the ranks of the Democratic minority in the Assembly Wednesday in debate over a seemingly innocuous bill to ban elections on Saturdays and Sundays.

The Assembly approved the bill overwhelmingly and sent it to the Senate, but the debate consumed more than an hour.

Saturday and Sunday elections produce the greatest number of voters," said Guy Brewster of Queens. He and other black lawmakers were concerned that voters from minority groups would not turn out for weekday elections.

They argued vigorously for Saturday elections, because the elections of poverty-program officials are usually conducted on that day.

Assemblyman Leonard Silverman of Brooklyn contended that the Saturday elections discriminate against Orthodox Jews, who are forbidden by religious law from participating in elections on the Sabbath. He said they cannot vote, serve as poll watchers or in any other job in the election process on that day.

"Religious law prohibits the listing of their names on the ballot," said Eli Wager of Woodmere.

The bill would ban weekend dates for primary, special or general elections for any state or local office or for the election of officers of any corporation funded in whole or part by federal, state or city governments.

The bill was among several to be approved as the legislature completed its three-day work week and recessed to Monday.

Among the bills approved were those that would:

—Repeat the right of municipalities to impose service charges on certain tax-exempt property in lieu of real estate taxes. Passed in the Senate over solid Democratic opposition and sent to the Assembly.

—Exempt black powder in quantities of five pounds or less from requirements to license gunpowder. Given final legislative approval in the Senate, the bill was sent to the governor.

—Permit nonpublic schools to contract with boards of cooperative educational services for data-processing aid in keeping records. Passed in the Senate and sent to the Assembly.

—Authorize the city of Jamestown to issue bonds to pay for welfare costs over a five-year period until Chautauque County takes over operation of city welfare services.

New York City was expecting $5 million from the service charges on tax-exempt property, said Senate Minority Leader Joseph Zaretzki.

Legislature Gives Approval For State Primary on June 20

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Governor Rockefeller and the Republican controlled legislature gave quick approval Wednesday to a state election calendar that sets the stage for a June primary. Democrats feel will play the "key role" nationally in selecting their presidential candidate.

Rockefeller signed the election calendar into law just hours after it won unanimous approval in both houses of the legislature. It sets the primary on June 20, and lets candidates begin circulating nominating petitions in less than three weeks, on April 4.

President Nixon is expected to be unopposed on a slate set up by Rockefeller and his state campaign manager. But the Democratic contest is expected to include at least five or six presidential aspirants.

The legislature's action fell close on the heels of the nation's first two presidential primaries, in New Hampshire and Florida. State Democratic Chairman Joseph F. Crangle has labeled the results in those two states as inconclusive and says New York will "play the key role" in determining the candidate his party runs against the President.

New York will have the largest single delegation to the Democratic National Convention in Miami — 278 votes — and Crangle said Wednesday he does not expect the party will have a clear front runner prior to the state's next-to-the-last primary in the nation.

The new election calendar requires that nominating petitions be filed between May 8 and 11. Secretary of State John P. Lomenzo will certify candidates by June 5, two weeks before the vote. Third party independent candidates, such as Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, if he does not run as a Democrat, must circulate petitions starting in mid-July and have until Sept. 27 to be certified for the November election ballot.

Candidates for delegates will apparently run in the newly reapportioned congressional districts. Assembly Minority Leader Stanley Steingut has shelved and apparently killed a bill that would allow the delegates to run in Senate districts because of opposition from fellow Democratic lawmakers in the upper house.

Crangle, speaking at a news conference the morning after the Florida results, said that primary results in Illinois and Wisconsin would be more significant in the Democratic presidential sweepstakes.

"George Wallace's win in Florida is not representative of the Democratic party throughout this country," he said. "I'm confident 43 per cent of the Democrats in this country do not favor Wallace's stand."

Crangle added that a clear front runner for the nomination may not become apparent until New York State's primary June 20.

"New York may well be the battleground for the 1972 nomination; after all we have 278 delegate votes, the largest in the nation," he said. "New York is going to play the key role unless there are some dramatic changes I don't anticipate now."

Crangle would give no assessment as to who would win the New York primary, which is the next to the last of the 23 Democratic selections this year.

He said however, that Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, who is considered by many to be the front runner in New York, has not lost ground because of his showings in New Hampshire and Florida.

"I don't think the Muskie support in New York State is fair weather backing," Crangle said. "To say he has lost ground here is a premature judgment."

Crangle warned that if Wallace continues to gain support in succeeding primaries, more liberal Democrats are going to have to make an agreement among themselves.

"There has got to be a lot of soul searching by the liberals in the Democratic party," Crangle said. "How long are we going to go on splitting ourselves?"

Court Orders Reconsideration Of Storm King Power Project

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Environmental Conservation Commissioner Henry L. Diamond was under court order today to reconsider his approval for the controversial Storm King Mountain power project in the lower Hudson Valley.

A department spokesman said it was not immediately decided if the department would start another examination of the long-delayed project, or appeal the ruling by Supreme Court Justice De Forest Pitt of Troy.

Pitt ruled Wednesday that Diamond had not adequately considered possible side-effects from the pump storage project sought by Consolidated Edison Co.

The judge instructed Diamond to re-examine the case in the commissioner's obligation to certify to the federal government there is "reasonable as-urance" the plant would not violate state water quality standards.

The suit was brought by Assemblyman Peter A. Berle, D-Manhattan, on behalf of the Scenic Hudson Preservation Conference. They contended Diamond, in accepting a hearing officer's report, had not adequately covered such potential problems as sending salt water into municipal water systems, thermal pollution from other plants servicing Storm King, and fish kills through the pumping operation.

"The report and the commissioner's determination reflect a lack of reasonable assurance that he was thereafter to certify existed," Pitt said in the five-page opinion.

He also said Diamond's conditions that the plant shut down if violations occurred was "meaningless" because most monitoring would be done by Con Ed.

Contract Question in Ellenville

By WADE BURKHART

ELLENVILLE wanted the contract scrapped at a higher authority, and she said the contract dispute was not really about the contract, but was "the beginning of a hatchet job" being done on her. Mrs. Kirby denies having seen the final contract with Hayden before it was signed. School Superintendent of Schools Board President James J. Murray reminded Mrs. Kirby that she was on the committee which negotiated the contract with Hayden, but Mrs. Kirby still claimed never to have seen the final one.

The letter, from John P. Jehu, an Education Department lawyer, stated, "... I should note that there appear to be serious discrepancies between the 'official' contract and the contract which the board of education collectively authorized. To the extent that the contents of the official contract deviates from the terms of the contract as approved by the board of education, I would have serious doubts about its enforceability."

Jehu's letter was written in response to a letter from Shore requesting answers to a number of questions, including whether or not Hayden's contract is valid.

The entire matter is being turned over to the School Board Attorney Benjamin Lonstein for study. School Board member Mrs. Florence Kirby didn't want the matter to go to Lonstein. She said the board had heard from Board member Donald Berg said the contract dispute was not really about the contract, but was "the beginning of a hatchet job" being done on her. He said Hayden had the complete support of the majority of the board, however. The board gave the go ahead to Stanley Engelman, the head of the district's fledgling occupational education program, to start contacting potential employers. They also approved the transfer of Engelman from teacher to coordinator of the program.

Engelman said he has 42 student applications for the program, which would allow a student to go to school half a day and work half a day. The minimum age for the program is 14 years of age, and it is hoped it will keep some students in school who would otherwise drop out from boredom or financial necessity.

Engelman reported the program had been approved by the state, and would be credit-bearing.

Complaints were received about the cafeteria and its menu, but Business Manager Sol Sashin noted that there were more students, both by number and percentage, eating in the cafeteria than there ever were despite complaints. The cafeteria recently set an all-time record on pizza day, with 1,204 served.

Sashin said he would like to improve the cafeteria, but he needed the money and the space.

Would Cause Pacific Port Shutdown

Cutback in Longshoremen's Pact Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Pay Board source says business and public members are on the verge of cutting back the West Coast longshoremen's pact, a move almost certain to cause another shutdown of Pacific ports.

A renewed dock strike, which could also involve East and Gulf Coast ports, probably would take another act of Congress to stop.

The board planned to resume deliberations on the contract today.

"There's a cut coming," a nonlabor source predicted. "I've got a sure nine votes, and a probable 10."

Eight votes are required for a majority of the 15-member board. The five labor members support full approval of the longshore pact.

Harry Bridges, president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, said last Feb. 29 he would lead his men on strike if the board cut the contract "by as much as one cent."

He has repeated the threat since, and said last week that a cut would so incense his members that he couldn't stop them from striking.

Although Bridges has said the International Longshoremen's Association would join him by striking East and Gulf Coast ports, ILA officials have refused to confirm a pledge of joint action.

The ILWU pact, containing a first-year pay raise estimated officially at up to 21.5 per cent, ended a 134-day strike of West Coast ports.

Congress gave President Nixon authority to impose an arbitrated settlement of that walk-out, but the union settled voluntarily before Nixon signed the measure. A Labor Department spokesman says that authority could not be used to halt a renewed walkout.

The Pay Board source who predicted a cut in the pact would not estimate how deep it might be. "It's still in the pick-a-number stage," he said.

House Authorizes $172 Million for Amtrak

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite protests that Amtrak is railroading taxpayers to the poorhouse, the House has authorized $172 million to keep the company running until July 1, 1973. But lawmakers cut the pay of Amtrak's president by $65,000.

The House voted 312 to 63 Wednesday to provide the financially ailing National Railroad Passenger Corp. with $170 million to continue its operations, plus $2 million for service between the United States and Canada and Mexico.

In a surprise move, the House adopted 235 to 136 an amendment by Rep. John G. Schmitz, R-Calif., providing that no officer of Amtrak could be paid more than $60,000 unless additional pay comes from profits.

The only executive making more than $60,000 is Amtrak President Roger Lewis who is paid $125,000 annually. Amtrak lost $132 million during the current year and predicts a loss of $123 million next year.

Harley O. Stagger, D-W.Va., chairman of the Commerce Committee, said the Schmitz amendment "would be the death knell right now of the corporation" but House members obviously were reluctant to continue to pay Lewis' current salary.

Passage of the House bill came after Amtrak announced it was unable to meet a $12 million monthly payment to the 13 railroads that operate its nationwide system of passenger trains.

The bill now goes to the Senate where the Commerce Committee is not expected to begin its consideration until next week.

The $170 million was requested by Amtrak officials last year because the semipublic corporation was running out of funds and had to dip into a $100-million loan fund to keep operating.

Although Amtrak is predicting a substantial loss for the next fiscal year which begins

July 1, Stagger said officials hope to make a profit by 1975 and probably will be back again next year for additional federal funding.

Powell Listed As Critical

MIAMI (UPI)—Former Rep. Adam Clayton Powell was placed on the critical list Wednesday at Jackson Memorial Hospital where he was recuperating from a prostate hemorrhage.

Early today a hospital spokesman said the minister, civil rights leader and author was in critical condition, but not in the intensive care unit. Until Wednesday he was listed in fair condition.

Last week Powell was airlifted by Coast Guard helicopter from his home on South Bimini in the Bahamas to Miami after he started bleeding profusely. He underwent surgery for a prostate condition late last year.

Powell, 63, has lived on Bimini since 1970 when he lost an election for his old congressional seat from Harlem.

Texas Speaker Convicted

ABILENE, Tex. (UPI)—House Speaker Gus F. Mutscher, 39, a farm boy who became a successful attorney and married a Miss America in the 1960s, was convicted Wednesday of plotting to take a bribe while in office.

He was the highest state official in Texas history to be convicted of a felony. The jury was ordered to return to hear character witnesses and deliberate punishment today.

Mutscher said the verdict astounded him. "Unbelievable," he said. "I've never even stolen a watermelon."

Mutscher was convicted with two other men, both legislative associates, of railroading two banking bills through a 1969 special session of the Texas Legislature in exchange for illegal stock deals.

Prosecutors said they made more than $80,000 on the stock deals, set up and financed by Houston banker Frank Sharp. Sharp himself was convicted in the stock scandal last year and given a probated sentence. The maximum punishment for Mutscher and the others is five years in prison and a $5,000 fine each.

Reporters scrambling to report the verdict to their editors accidentally broke a window pane in a courtroom door.

Judge J. Neil Daniel said he would have something to say later about courtroom decorum.

Mrs. Mutscher, of El Dorado, Ark., who was Miss America in 1964, wept when the verdict was read. Later, as the couple left the courthouse, she took a swing at reporters with her purse. She missed.

The others convicted were Mutscher's aide, S. Rush McGinty, and Democratic State Rep. Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth. They had nothing to say, but Mrs. McGinty chided reporters from the steps of the courthouse.

"I'm going to sit right here and watch these vultures—the whole bunch of lying news-men!"

The bills the trio pressed through the statehouse were later vetoed by Gov. Preston Smith, but only after Smith himself sold his Sharp-arranged stock for a profit of $62,500. He was not indicted.

Soviets Mark Anniversary Of Secret Space Program

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union today marked the 10th anniversary of a secretive space program which, according to Western intelligence, hurls bombs, bugs, spy stations and science monitors into earth orbit.

The Soviets made it a "working holiday" for the decade-old Cosmos program, blasting Cosmos 478 into near-earth orbit Wednesday.

True to the precedent of the other 477 unmanned Cosmos spūtniks launched since March 16, 1962, the Soviets announced No. 478 in the terse way that makes clear that its mission is nobody's business.

The official Tass news agency said "the satellite carries scientific equipment to continue space exploration" and gave the coordinates of its orbit—once around the earth every 90 minutes, from 128 to 191 miles up, at an angle of 65.4 degrees to the equator.

In general terms, Soviet commentators do describe the Cosmos series as a workhorse, all-purpose science program that includes weather forecasting, geological studies of earth and the measuring of the effects of space upon living organisms.

Man Faces City Charge

KINGSTON John Walker, 34, of 49 East Union Street, appeared Wednesday before City Judge Hubert A. Richter on a charge of attempted robbery third degree that stemmed from an incident at the Colangelo Liquor Store, 567 Abel Street.

Walker waived preliminary hearing and the case was referred to the grand jury. Judge Richter reduced bail from $10,000 to $5,000 bail. In lieu of bail, the defendant was remanded to jail.

Walker and Maryann Parker, 21, of 21 Abel Street, were accused of attempting to rob Joseph Colangelo, proprietor of the store last Friday night, police said. The woman's case has been adjourned until Monday for hearing in City Court. She also was cited for attempted robbery third degree.

Assemblyman Introduces Stewart Airport Proposals

ALBANY removed from the tax rolls be directly affected by such plans. Gilman explained, "This bill... problems when deciding the acre Stewart Airport project... will go a merits or demerits of proposed said that he would ask for early action on all of his bills since... it is obvious that there is an... immediate need to make the... more responsive to the... MTA for land banking the 11,000 people."

Expressing concern about the numerous complaints from his constituents about the Metropolitan Transportation Authority's practices in regard to the development of the Stewart Airport Project, Assemblyman Benjamin A. Gilman has introduced a series of legislative proposals designed to regulate MTA's procedures and to remedy the situation. In response to complaints about the lack of public hearings before the MTA and MTA's lack of adequate notice to communities of its proposed plans, Assemblyman Gilman said he is co-sponsoring legislation that would require MTA to give notice of all of their plans for public projects to the executive officers and the legislative body that whenever real property is of any county, city or town di-cause of its acquisition by the MTA, the authority must make arrangements for the payment in lieu of taxes to the taxing district equal to 100 per cent of the total taxes payable the MTA. In addition the Gilman proposal provides that after plans of legislation that would force the environment, every state agency to submit a statement of environmental long way towards making Stewart airport projects. The Assemblyman Gilman who it is obvious that there is an immediate need to make the more responsive to the MTA for land banking the 11,000 people.

Farmers Make Rapid Change

RHINEBECK The land not under the plow can be used for other things. "The soil, in being used less intensively, is like having a bank account for the future," said Porter. "It also means more land can be reforested, developed for recreation, and home building."

"Farmers have made as much change in their productivity in the past 11 years as was made between Christ's time and 1960."

This statement may be attributed to John J. Porter, with the Dutchess County Soil Conservation Service, a staunch defender of American agricultural methods and the farmers themselves. He noted that this statement may be made about the American farmer, not including those of other nations.

Porter said that in less progressive agricultural countries the consumer is still farm workers, many farmers, spending 50 per cent of his income on food, whereas consumers in the United States all now neatly tilled nor will average about 16 1/2 per cent of their incomes.

In 1970 one farmer was producing food for 46 people, while in 1900 he fed 7, in 1940 he fed 11, and in 1960, 26. "If still in agriculture," some uses for these lands are as they were 50 years ago," development of ponds or he stated, "it would take 500 million acres of land to produce the food that was produced in 1970 on 300 million acres."

The number of farmers is a little expensive to develop, down drastically in the Hudson Valley from years past, due largely to the expanding suburban population and the resulting higher prices for land. But the sizes of the farms are larger, with mechanization largely responsible.

As for the future — "The American farmer's efficiency has driven from the land many farm workers, many farmers, spending 50 per cent of his income on food, whereas consumers in the United States all now neatly tilled nor will average about 16 1/2 per cent of their incomes."

Porter said that as soil conservationists "we are, as interested in these diverted we are in the acres he fed 11, and in 1960, 26. "If still in agriculture," some uses for these lands are as they were 50 years ago," development of ponds or he stated, "it would take 500 million acres of land to produce the food that was produced in 1970 on 300 million acres."

And this rocky land, "perhaps a little expensive to develop, down drastically in the Hudson Valley from years past, due largely to the expanding suburban population and the resulting higher prices for land. But the sizes of the farms are larger, with mechanization largely responsible."

Busing Attack

The House vote instructing its conferees to insist on its version of restrictive anti-busing legislation had two unrelated supporting actions almost simultaneously. A federal court judge found that Knoxville, Tenn., was conforming to the latest Supreme Court decision by refusing to spend $500,000 for busing to and from its schools to achieve a more integrated system. And the voters in Florida overwhelmingly endorsed anti-busing legislation.

These scattered supporting actions should help the House conferees persuade their Senate colleagues to accept the strict language of their bill, especially as rejection could endanger the chances of enactment of the $20 billion higher education bill that has been passed by both houses. The anti-busing provision as an amendment to that bill and rejection by the Senate could require reintroduction on a bill that both houses agree is vital to higher education.

Mike Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader, had said he expected the Senate conferees to stand solidly behind the milder Senate bill. But that was previous to the uncompromising stand of the House, by a 2 to 1 vote; and before U.S. Judge Robert L. Taylor rendered his decision in the Knoxville case; and before the people of Florida voted.

Judge Taylor quoted the pertinent section of the recent Supreme Court decision in the Charlotte-Mecklenburg case as follows: "The constitutional command to desegregate schools does not mean that every school in every community must always reflect the racial composition of the school system as a whole. It does not and cannot embrace all the problems of racial prejudice, even when these problems contribute to the disproportionate racial concentrations in some schools."

Knoxville has always had a residential pupil assignment system. Charlotte-Mecklenburg only since 1965. No child is excluded from any school in Knoxville. The school board offers to pay bus fare for any child who wishes to change to a school in which his race is in the minority. Neither site selection nor school abandonment have been used to promote segregation. Of 64 schools in Knoxville, 16 are all white, none are all black and the 5,767 black children attend 48 integrated schools and all schools have integrated staffs. These are criteria on which compulsory busing was rejected. They should become guidelines for legislation as well.

Airline Security

The airline industry is going through its worst crisis. The $2 million extortion demand, followed by a blast that severely damaged an empty Trans World Airlines Boeing 707 jet in Las Vegas and other similar terrors has the airline industry in jitters. It is taking precautions for its safety, as well as to head off an epidemic of extortion attempts. The air traveling public is remarkably unfazed but a continuation of such events is sure to "ground" thousands.

The extortionists are simply a worse phase of the hijacker and the saboteur. Had all those hijacked planes crashed, or those journeys for which their passengers were illy-prepared been detained, or the criminally seized planes exploded or caught fire, we would be minus some thousands of our CHAOS TO DISASTER—The New York State inspector-general of welfare took a look at the direction in which New York City's welfare administration was moving and said, it goes "from chaos to disaster." His remedy: junk welfare districts' own watchdogs, install a central registry, computer-equipped, to combat relief and cheats. Possible savings, millions.

The giant McGraw-Hill publishing empire, already stained by faked memoirs of Howard Hughes and a 102-year-old Indian, has now been splashed with a new scandal. Its highly-respected trade books editor-in-chief, who edited both the Hughes memoirs and the bestselling tale of Chief Red Fox, has been accused of taking what looks suspiciously like a $1,700 kickback.

The editor in question is Robert Stewart, the brainy, charming man brought in by McGraw-Hill to get its fiction books on the bestseller lists. In 1969, he was working on "The Book of Alfred Kantor," a powerful picture story of Nazi concentration camps. Stewart had life or death control over whether Kantor's book would be published, when it would go to the printers and how much it would be promoted by McGraw-Hill. Publishing ethics demand an arms-length financial position by editors toward their writers.

Yet, Stewart took $1,275 from Kantor, the ex-camp inmate, and $425 from Jon Wykert, who helped sell the book and worked on the text with Kantor. We have a copy of Wykert's check to editor Stewart.

Whether the money was a kickback, a loan, a gift or an "editorial fee"—it amounts to 10 per cent of the $17,900 advance—is in dispute now within the huge McGraw-Hill corporate skyscraper in New York City.

Wykert has called it variously a "kickback," a "gift" and an "editorial fee" in his talks with us. Kantor will only say it was "voluntary."

McGraw-Hill president Harold McGraw, Jr., says he and Stewart regard it as a "loan." And we have another cancelled check dated 14 months after the money passed hands to show Stewart paid back to Wykert $420.

But in a conversation with us, McGraw nervously said Stewart's action was at best unwise. "I cannot condone the judgement" of Stewart, he asserted. "I am investigating."

McGraw met secretly with Wykert on Saturday and plans other meetings with Stewart and Kantor. Wykert, who first raised the question of unethical behavior, says he has no evidence that any money passed hands on the Hughes or Indian books.

"Look," he snorted. "Stewart's not going to do that to a Nabokov (a famous novelist-poet). He's only going to do it to a schmegeggi (simpaton) like me." Stewart would not return our calls to him.

"A Little Something I Brought Home for You!"

David Lawrence Says

European Forces

WASHINGTON—The Soviet Union, for the time being at least, is refusing to negotiate mutual troop cuts with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Officials at NATO headquarters in Brussels are disappointed with this development, as they had anticipated that a balanced force reduction between the Soviet troops in Eastern Europe and those of NATO could be accomplished.

A United Press International dispatch from Brussels says that diplomatic sources there feel Russia's early enthusiasm for mutual force curtailments probably "was tempered by opposition from its military and by the realization that a Soviet troop pullback in Eastern Europe could have strong political repercussions." The dispatch adds:

"Those sources said Russia hoped that political pressure in the United States would lead to unilateral U.S. troop cutback in Europe without the need for a matching Soviet cutback."

This is one of the many evidences of the possible impact abroad of political criticisms in America.

For more than a year now, it has been understood that the NATO countries and the Soviet Union would undertake to cut down some of their forces in Europe, thus permitting a reduction of the large units which the United States has stationed overseas.

The military forces of NATO total 1,100,000 men, most of them in Western Europe ready to be used in an emergency. It is estimated that the Warsaw Pact nations have 1,500,000, of which 300,000 are Soviet troops in Central and Eastern Europe. The American military contingent provides nearly one third of the manpower of all NATO forces.

The exact reason why Moscow has declined to discuss the subject is not known, but it has continued to refuse a visa to Manlio Brosio of Italy, Secretary General of NATO, who requested last October a conference in Moscow to determine Russia's attitude toward a balanced military reduction.

It is believed abroad that the Soviets think public opinion in America has reached the point where any military involvement by the United States in Europe or Asia would be disapproved here. Hence, it is thought, a substantial decrease of American troops in Europe would follow the pullout of our forces from Vietnam. Such an impression is gained from political controversies widely publicized in this, and other countries as a part of the debate in the presidential campaign this year.

President Nixon on his visit to Moscow in May doubtless will discuss the problem of troop strength and sound out Premier Kosygin as to whether a reduction can be achieved. The growing expense on the military side is depriving the Russian people of money that could be spent to improve their standard of living. The same thing is happening in other countries, including the United States. If there were a mutual trust and a sincere effort to lessen the burden of military expenditures, peoples throughout the world would benefit.

The only reason why so many American troops have been maintained in Europe for more than 20 years—following the end of World War II—is that the nations in Western Europe have been fearful that they might be attacked and deprived of their freedom and independence. Since the North Atlantic Treaty was signed in 1949, the United States has had land and air forces stationed in West Germany and in some other NATO countries, plus keeping a large naval fleet in the Mediterranean and in waters around the European Continent. The whole program has been carried out for purposes of defense, and, of course, the United States possesses nuclear weapons, which serve as a deterrent.

If President Nixon can reach an understanding, however, with the Soviet leaders for further consideration of the withdrawal of Russian troops from the Eastern European countries, unquestionably there would be a readiness by NATO to make a sizable reduction of armies in Western Europe. Any such move would be a symbol of peace, because up to now the Soviets have not only kept big forces in Eastern Europe but have exercised extensive control over the respective governments of those countries.

So a cutback in NATO forces is just part of the larger problem of how really to assure peace in Europe.

Morton has the chance to set protection forever in motion in Alaska on no less than 80 million acres. He can keep this acreage safe for five or more years and prevent it from being lost or nibbled apart.

The ALASKA NATIVE CLAIMS ACT, signed by the President on December 17, 1971, sets the ground rules for the future of the Country's largest remaining reserve of wilderness. In addition to settling aboriginal claims of 40 million acres and $962,500,000, it authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to withdraw up to 80 million acres which Congress may then designate as National Parks, Forests, Wildlife Refuges, or wild and scenic rivers, and it gives the Secretary the authority to reclassify all of the unreserved public lands in Alaska.

Alaska provides crucial nesting ground for more than 12 million North American waterfowl. Much of this essential habitat is not yet protected in wildlife refuges. Alaska's scenery is unsurpassed, never have there been so many areas in one place deserving permanent protection as refuges and parks.

Secretary Morton can preserve this country's options if he acts by March 17, 1972. He needs to withdraw the full 80 million acres by then, and all remaining BLM lands from private land disposal until they can be classified later for appropriate public uses. Please urge Secretary Morton to seize these momentous opportunities by withdrawing these lands.

Every American has a stake in Secretary Morton's decision, the Mid-Hudson Group Sierra Club urges you to write him at once (Dept. of Interior, 18th and C Streets, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20240) by March 17th. This is your last chance to do more than you ever again can to save Alaska's wild lands.

IRS Correction

Editor, The Freeman:

On Friday, March 10, 1972, the Daily Freeman, carried an article on the McLaren School, Esopus, New York with several references to the Internal Revenue Service. In order to keep the record straight, I believe it is necessary that I comment on some of these references.

The state's investigation of the school was not prompted by an IRS revelation that McLaren owed $100,000 in back taxes as sole officer of the school. The state instituted the investigation when contacted by employees of the school. The pupils were sent home on the recommendation of the involved state agencies. Information in regard to the investigation and the subsequent dismissal of the pupils was made known to us by an employee and confirmed by the state.

Seizure action by the Internal Revenue Service took place on Monday and Tuesday. This action did include "padding the kitchen" as the article states. It is to be noted, however, that students for whom the food was intended left the school three days prior to our action.

The article dated March 10, 1972 stated that several students remain at the school. On Monday, March 6, 1972, four days prior to the date of the article, one student remained and was cared for by remaining faculty members. It is our understanding that the student's parents were out of the country and contact with them was impossible. All other pupils had left the premises.

Seizure action by the Internal Revenue Service covered only property owned by the school. It did not include any personal property of employees of the school.

The above comments are made to clarify the position of the Internal Revenue Service in regard to disclosure of this matter.

Should you require any further information, I shall be very happy to furnish it to you within the limitations of the law in formation.

Sincerely yours,
DONALD T. WARTLEY

China Purges Causing Trouble

WASHINGTON (NEA) Despite the calm in Peking and the serene appearance Chairman Mao Tse-tung and Premier Chou En-lai presented to President Nixon, the purge of Lin Biao, who was Mao's heir apparent, is not going well.

This is the report from a number of China's provinces channeled through Hong Kong contacts and just arrived here by letter.

The conclusion is confirmed by Hong Kong China watchers monitoring a sizable number of mainland provincial radio stations.

The purging of a man of Lin's stature, by Chinese Communist procedure, calls for widespread denunciation in party and army circles, for numerous anti-Lin meetings, discussion sessions and news articles sponsored by hundreds of thousands of groupings large and small which make up the nation. There would be intense "struggle" meetings in which Lin would be castigated in the strongest terms and those associated with him forced to recant. These people would be ousted from army and party posts up and down the line, to be replaced by rivals.

This type of purge was carried out with verve and forcefulness when Liu Shao-chi was removed as Number Two.

Not only is Peking finding it difficult to rouse national anti-Lin fervor, but there are rumors of a small but significant counter campaign against those around Mao believed responsible for Lin's fall.

There seem to be several reasons for Peking's difficulties:

● The charges against Lin coming from Peking by word of mouth are too fanciful for many local cadres to believe. A month after the date on which Lin is accused of having attempted to assassinate Mao, he was publicly honored in the official

Peking Peoples Daily. Every official and officer in China knows that no official newspaper would be allowed to praise Lin after such an attempt.

● There have been too many purges and counter purges in the past few years. Men down today are up tomorrow. Men in powerful positions today may likewise be purged in the turn of the wheel. Too many cadres in the provinces have seen the men they attacked return and take revenge on their attackers. Liu Shao-chi, former heir apparent to Mao, and his followers were purged some time back. But a good many Liu henchmen are now being restored to favor. Liu's policies in agriculture and other fields are even now being carried out. This makes men hesitant about ganging up on Lin Piao.

● There seems to be general uncertainty as to how Mao himself feels about the ouster of Lin Piao.

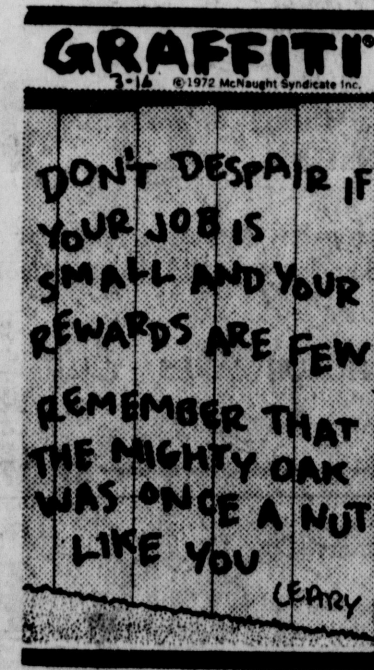

Lin is being charged with having taken public stands directly opposed to Mao's wishes for years on end. But it is difficult for people to believe Mao would have permitted this.

Nationwide, there seems, therefore, to be widespread belief the current campaign to oust Lin was launched not so much by Mao himself as by those competing for power against Lin and his supporters.

If it should turn out that the purge of Lin Piao was indeed against Mao's wishes, there will certainly be a nationwide series of counter purges. There are indications this thought has inclined many to play it safe.

● Finally, a considerable number of senior and junior officers and party cadres feel a deep sense of loyalty to Lin Piao—men and women with whom he was associated in the Long March, the struggle at Yenan, the guerrilla fighting in World War II and the civil war campaigns that led to victory.

Meanwhile, Peking methodically is demoting Lin Piao's associates in the principal military districts—despite the unexpected passive resistance.

'Convention Was Milestone' States Local NAACP Leader

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON
Everette Hodge of Franklin Street has been in the forefront of the civil rights movement for most of his adult life. He has been a member of the NAACP for more than 40 years, founded chapters in Newburgh, Highland Falls and Ellenville, and has been president of the Ulster County Chapter since 1953.

Hodge, along with Kingston Legislator Larry Kithcart and John A. Calhoun of Ellenville, were Ulster County's delegates in the 339-member New York State contingent which attended the first National Black Political Convention in Gary, Ind., last weekend.

"I'm glad I went," Hodge told The Freeman following his return on Monday. "I think it was a milestone in black history. Certainly, people will disagree on the programs put forth at the convention. No man wants to lose something good."

"Many whites are going to consider (a black movement) as a threat to them," Hodge said. "But, it is not a threat, it will benefit all Americans. It will certainly cool off a lot of radicalism among blacks. The main reason you have radicalism is because they've been left out. Once they're included, you won't have it."

The delegates dealt with a prepared set of positions on numerous issues, drawn up by a 60-member steering committee. The committee had spent more than a year soliciting opinions from various black organizations all over the country. "We took apart the position paper bit by bit, piece by piece," Hodge said. "In many cases we (and by 'we' Hodge is referring primarily to the New York State delegation) felt the positions taken were too militant."

Separatism, a breaking away from the system, was rejected, "at this time and in this place," Hodge said. "It was the consensus of most of the delegates that the changes that should come can come by working through the system." Hodge contended that both major political parties have "failed the black people" but that there was no move made to separate from those major parties. A resolution was passed, however, calling for a nationwide drive to register all eligible black voters with the emphasis on the 18-year old vote.

One of the more controversial items recommended by the steering committee involved the payment of reparations to blacks by whites. "We agreed that this was a valid position based on 200 years of free labor and based on the fact that they (white people) destroyed our heritage and our color. White masters took advantage of our women, mixed us up, so to speak," Hodge said. "The reparations should not be based on individual cases. 'I personally can't assess what they owe my ancestors,' he said. 'My grandfather lived to be 100 but he was 18 years old when the Civil War broke out. That's 18 years of free labor.' Hodge said a certain amount of money should be set aside every year to pay for the education of blacks. A figure of $500 million a year was quoted at the convention.

Hodge agrees with the convention's position that defense spending and space spending should be cut 50 per cent and the money used for "social, economic and political development" of black people.

Hodge feels that the National Black Political Convention held in Gary, Ind., will become an annual affair. "I think it marked the return from radicalism to sanity. Many people are returning to the system. Bobby Seale is one. This working within the existing system is a position the NAACP has taken for many years. It's gratifying to see it coming about."

Hodge says that tensions will be reduced by opening up the system to greater participation. "This is why we ask the (Kingston) city government to recognize that we are part of the community and that we should participate and that it would make a better community for everyone."

"I kind of feel that the city is beginning to recognize this," Hodge emphasized that positions taken at the black convention in Gary, are not final. A final report will be issued on the birthday of the late Malcolm X on May 19.

Three Lindsay Aides Quitting In Disagreement Over Strategy

BOSTON (AP) — Three top men in the Massachusetts primary campaign organization of New York Mayor John V. Lindsay say they are quitting their jobs because of disagreements over strategy with the presidential candidate's New York staff.

"We felt there were irreconcilable differences on how much money was to be made available, for what it was to be spent and when it was coming," said Dan Payne, former director of communications in Lindsay's Massachusetts organization.

The others who announced their resignations last week with Payne were Tom Kiley, director of field organization, and Frank Phillips, press secretary.

The top man in the campaign setup here, campaign coordinator John Martilla, has been in Florida working on the New York mayor's efforts in last Tuesday's primary in that state, in which Lindsay finished fifth with about 7 per cent of the vote.

State Police Report Filed for February

HURLEY State Police patrols operating in Zone 3 made a total of 1,077 arrests for vehicle and traffic violations during February, according to the monthly report of Lieutenant G. C. Dunne, zone commander.

The lieutenant noted that 168 of the arrests charged motorists with speeding that had been recorded on radar, and 62 were speed computer arrests. A speed computer operates similar to roadside radar. Seven motorists were cited for leaving the scene of accidents and 14 others were charged with operating vehicles with loads in excess of those legally permitted.

Twenty-five car drivers were accused of drunken driving, and all but one took breathalyzer tests.

Troopers investigated 295 motor vehicle accidents last month. A total of 96 accidents resulted in personal injuries to 144 persons. Two highway fatalities were investigated. Lieutenant Dunne's report noted that 111 traffic arrests were connected with highway accidents.

In February, troopers made 31 arrests for felonies and 64 for misdemeanors. The uniformed force investigated 243 cases and Bureau of Criminal Investigation officers made 189 investigations during the month.

Uniformed troopers patrolled 93,192 miles in February and inspected 330 posted properties. The lieutenant's report also noted that 1,240 messages were dispatched over the State Police teletype system, 3,043 transmissions were made on the radio network, and 3,470 entries were made on the police blotter.

City Traffic Rerouted After Broadway Mishap

KINGSTON press of Kingston, to jackknife and go out of control. Police called it "a miracle" that neither driver was injured in the crash.

Kingston Det. Sgt. William Slover reported that F. J. Osterhoudt, of 233 Grand Avenue, Poughkeepsie, was headed south on Broadway near the Stuyvesant Street intersection when he lost control of his vehicle, which jackknifed and struck a tractor trailer operated by Herbert Winn Jr. of Hughsonville, who was going north on Broadway.

The impact ripped the top off Osterhoudt's cab and broke open the trailer, spilling television sets, canned goods, and other items over the street. Kingston firemen responded and washed down the street after Osterhoudt's gasoline tank ruptured and spilled fuel onto the roadway.

Osterhoudt told police that his load shifter, causing the vehicle, owned by Van's Auto Ex-

Crash Injures Kingston Man

TOWN OF SAUGERTIES A two-car collision on the Glasco Turnpike east of Shultis Corners in this township shortly after 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, injured a Kingston man.

State Trooper John Kohlman of Hurley reported the vehicles were driven by James Godwin, 27, of 18 Wiltwyck Avenue, Kingston, and Warren Biesel of Saugerties. Both cars were passing over a hillcrest when the crash occurred.

Godwin was taken to Benedictine Hospital by Saugerties Ambulance Service. He was treated for injuries of the ribs and left hand, it was reported.

The three who resigned said they made their decisions known before the results of the Florida primary.

Payne said his decision to quit "is pretty much definite. I'm not going back. There is too much work to do to organize an effective campaign and we simply can't do it now."

Progress Is Revealed

Mrs. Lloyd Hapeman, District One Heart Fund Chairman including Red Hook and Rhinebeck, has announced that about 75 per cent of the Heart Sunday goal has been reached.

In Red Hook, volunteers collected $1,216.39 and in Rhinebeck $1,283.15.

"With returns from not-at-home envelopes still coming in," said Mrs. Hapeman, "this total is extremely pleasing. The credit for the success of the 1972 Heart Fund lies extensively with the scores of volunteers in our area."

Frank Hazard, 1972 Heart Fund Chairman for Dutchess County, reports an overall total to date of $78,732.50. The goal for this year's campaign is $96,000.

Area Man Wins Award

Kingston Lodge No. 970, Loyal Order of Moose, has named District Attorney's Officer Thomas Mayone the recipient of its Moose Annual Citizen Award.

The selection is based on a person's contributions, over the years, to the people and youth of the area, a lodge spokesman said.

In naming Mayone, the organization cited his work with youth, including lecturing local groups on the narcotics problem.

A dinner and dance will be held in Mayone's honor at the Moose Lodge Saturday, April 8, at 7 p.m. The award will be presented at that time.

Mayone has been in law enforcement for about 20 years, and has been investigator for the district attorney's office for the past six. He is a native of Glasco.

Homowack Holdup Suspect Nabbed in California

LIBERTY The lodge office on the basement level when a man, allegedly Finian, entered brandishing a handgun and wearing a stocking over his head.

The man fled in a car reportedly driven by Miller.

At the time of the holdup scores of guests were arriving at the hotel for a testimonial dinner to honor Louis Resnick of Ellenville, who had been named Citizen of the Year by the Ellenville Noonday Club.

Extradition proceedings are underway to return a 22-year-old Ellenville man from California to Sullivan County to face a charge of armed robbery in connection with the holdup at the Homowack Lodge in Spring Glen on Feb. 29.

State Police at Ferndale were informed that Joseph Finian, Jr., 22, of 24 Chapel Street, Ellenville, was taken into custody in Los Angeles Tuesday on a warrant charging him with first degree robbery. He was being held as a fugitive from justice pending extradition here.

Arrested in Ellenville the day following the hotel holdup was Michael Miller, 19, of Laurens Road, that community. He is also facing a first degree robbery count stemming from the robbery.

Police said Finian and Miller allegedly participated in an armed holdup at the Homowack Lodge and made off with about $400 in cash. On the day of the incident, Mrs. Bertha Schacter, bookkeeper, was in

Public Hearing On Districts Is Planned

MT. MARION A joint public hearing conducted by the Ulster and Saugerties town boards will be held Thursday, March 30 at 8 p.m. in the Mt. Marion school.

The hearing will consider a petition to dissolve the present Mt. Marion-Ruby Fire Protection District and create two separate districts. The present joint district extends into both towns and the proposed new districts would be divided along the town line with the Mt. Marion district entirely in the Town of Saugerties and the Ruby district in the town of Ulster.

Officials have cited improved operating efficiency as the reason for the proposed division of the two districts, and have invited residents of both towns to attend the public hearing for a discussion of the matter.

Ulster Man Acquitted in Draft Case

ALBANY — Bruce S. Bogart, 21, of Mill Dam Road, Stone Ridge, who was charged with refusing to submit to military induction and failing to report for military induction, was acquitted on both counts following a three-day trial in U. S. District Court in Albany before Judge James T. Foley.

A jury of ten women and two men handed down a verdict of innocent on both counts Wednesday.

Assistant U. S. Attorney James Cullum represented the federal government in the case. Bogart was represented by Joshua Koplovitz, a Woodstock attorney.

According to Koplovitz, Bogart was accused of refusing to submit for induction on March 29, 1971 and for failing to report for induction on May 25, 1971.

Koplovitz maintained during the trial, which began Monday, that when Bogart reported for induction in Albany on March 27, 1971 he brought along a letter from his doctor stating that he had injured his back in a fall from the roof of a house that winter. Bogart was detained at the Albany induction center for three days while undergoing medical tests, and on March 29 was ruled unfit for military service because of medical reasons. But, according to his attorney, later that day he underwent another examination and a different doctor said he was medically sound and he was then approved for induction. Bogart asked for an appeal that day; his request was denied; so he left Albany and returned to his home.

The government contended that it sent a letter to Bogart's home on May 25, 1971 ordering him to report for induction. Bogart testified that he did not report for induction as ordered because he never saw the letter. Koplovitz termed the case "very interesting" and said "It reflects the inflexibility of the Selective Service System and the Army."

A second Ulster County youth, Lee Michael Halverson, 23, of New Paltz, also has been charged with failing to report for induction. His case is still pending in U.S. District Court in Albany.

Dutchess Youth Killed In Auto Crash

POUGHKEEPSIE — A one-car accident killed one teen-ager, gravely injured another and blacked out a large area of this Dutchess County township early today.

Fatally injured and pronounced dead at the scene of the accident that occurred shortly after midnight on Route 9G (Violet Avenue), was Peter Presenda, 19, of 43 Lakeview Avenue, Fairview, the operator of the car, according to police.

Donald Ward Jr., 18, of Van Wyck Drive, this township, a passenger in the vehicle, was in the intensive care unit at St. Francis' Hospital. He suffered multiple fractures and internal injuries.

Authorities said Presenda was driving his car along the highway when the vehicle went out of control and snapped off a utility pole. Power and service lines fell with the pole causing an interruption in electric service until Central Hudson crews replaced the pole and wires.

The fatality was Dutchess County's 13th traffic death of 1972 and the second this week.

United Way Head Tabbed

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

Richard R. Fredenberg, owner of the Jennifer Shop on Wall Street, has been appointed executive director of Ulster County United Way, The Freeman learned today.

Fredenberg was named at a special meeting of the United Way Board of Directors held in the YMCA on Broadway Wednesday night. The appointment to the $15,000 a year post is effective March 20.

Fredenberg's name was recommended by a United Way Selection Committee headed by Thomas Reynolds. The nine-member committee also included James Penrose, Arthur Richter, Mrs. Hubert A. Richter, Wilbur Peters, Anthony Triulzi, Al Brocco and Robert Stubbs. Glenn Sutherland, United Way president for 1972, was an ex-officio member of the Selection Committee.

The committee received resumes from nine persons. The Freeman learned and granted three interviews. The committee, according to Reynolds, was seeking an experienced executive who could "pull the pieces together" for a successful campaign in 1972.

RICHARD R. FREDENBERG

United Way fund raising has plateaued at about $350,000 over the past three years. Last year's campaign goal was $468,000 but realized only about $340,000.

One United Way official explained it this way. "We have records of persons who donated in, say 1969, but not in 1970 or 1971. In some cases they were not contacted. If everyone who has donated over the past three years, donates in 1972, we'd be off to a flying start." United Way officials feel they have a base of $390,000.

Reynolds said the committee felt that Fredenberg has the executive background to function successfully as United Way director, in short, the ability "to pull the pieces together."

Fredenberg holds a BS degree in education from Stroudsburg State College. A veteran of World War II, he joined Sears Roebuck Company in 1952 and in 1966 was transferred to Kingston where he served as merchandizing manager. He and his wife opened the Jennifer Shop at 295 Wall Street in August of 1969.

Fredenberg, a first vice president of the Kingston Lions Club, was named chairman of the club's 25th Exposition and Home Show, last week. He is also a member of the board of directors of the Uptown Businessmen's Association, a member of Wiltwyck Country Club and the Redeemer Lutheran Church.

The United Way Executive Board will review Fredenberg's performance in July and again in December. His appointment runs until December 31.

Ulster Dems Search For Area Candidates

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

Ulster County Democrats are seemingly at a loss to come up with anything tangible in the way of candidates for the new Assembly, State Senate and Congressional Districts. However, exceptions may be incumbent Rep. John Dow, who will seek another term in the new 26th District and perhaps Saugerties Town Supervisor A. Michael Schovel for Assembly.

Reportedly the greatest effort on the part of the Democratic party leaders has been their attempt to field a candidate to oppose the incumbent Republican Assemblyman H. Clark Bell. But so far, such popular vote-getters such as Kingston Mayor Francis R. Koenig and former Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan have turned down offers of support for their candidacies.

Still another possible contender, Saugerties Democrat Chairman Maurice Hinchey Jr., whom many thought was interested in the Assembly nomination, reportedly is not planning to take the step at this time.

The only "live" candidate at the present time seems to be Schovel, who may be under consideration.

Former party candidates such as David Lenefsky who ran for State Senate two years ago and John Dyson who ran for Congress four years ago still remain possible candidates for some of the seven posts up for election in Assembly, Senate and Congressional Districts.

Lenefsky has been out of the country recently, however, and Dyson of Dutchess County had entertained thoughts of his candidacy in Ulster County prior to the recent announced redistricting.

Congressman Dow's new district takes in all of Orange and Rockland counties and three towns of Ulster County: Marlboro, Shawangunk and Plattekill.

He will be opposed in his bid by one of three Republicans all seeking the GOP nomination. They are Assemblyman Benjamin A. Gilman of Middletown; William E. Vines, of Rockland County and Yale Rapkin, also of Rockland County.

Democratic contenders are still needed in the new 25th and 27th Districts however where incumbent Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. and Rep. Howard Robison respectively are candidates for reelection.

Fish's new District includes the City of Kingston, the towns of Saugerties, Ulster, Esopus and Lloyd as well as parts of Columbia and Westchester counties and all of Dutchess and Putnam counties.

Dyson, a Dutchess County resident is a possible opponent but to date no public announcements have been forthcoming from any possible Democratic candidates in the entire district.

Incumbent GOP Congressman Howard Robison of Tioga County also seemingly faces no Democratic opposition at this time. His new district is long, stretching from Ithaca in Tompkins County down to Ulster where 13 towns are included in the new 27th district. They are Hardenburgh, Shandaken, Denning, Woodstock, Olive, Hurley, Wawarsing, Gardiner, New Paltz, Marletown, Rosendale and Town of Kingston.

Easy sledding is seemingly apparent for Republican Edwyn E. Mason of Hobart who is unopposed so far in his bid for the post of State Senator in the new 48th Senatorial District which also stretches from northern Ulster north to Herkimer County.

Both Ulster and Sullivan County Democratic Chairmen James T. McCardle and James Hanofee report that they know of no Democratic candidate to oppose Mason. Mason's District has a three to one Republican enrollment.

No meeting of the six county Democratic Committee chairman or delegates has been announced.

Commissioners Appoint Acting City Fire Chief

KINGSTON

Deputy Chief Robert L. Maines was appointed acting chief of the Kingston Fire Department at a special meeting of the fire commissioners Wednesday night. Mayor Francis R. Koenig announced today.

Koenig said the decision to appoint Maines, a 24-year veteran fire fighter, was unanimous. The appointment was effective March 15.

The choice for chief of the department, a position vacated when former Chief James M. Brett retired earlier this month, was between Maines and Deputy Chief Hugh Greer. Maines, according to Mayor Koenig was chosen on the basis of seniority. Maines has been a deputy chief since Sept. 7, 1968. Greer was appointed deputy chief on March 27, 1969.

The department's table of organization calls for four deputy chiefs. With Maines' promotion, Greer is the only deputy chief. Greer's brother, Philip passed the civil service examination for deputy chief last year but no action was taken by the commissioners at their regular meeting on March 7 of this year. Koenig indicated that the commissioners would act on Capt. Greer's promotion at their regular meeting in April.

Acting Chief Maines, who has assumed all the powers and duties of the chief of the department, was appointed a fireman on Jan. 1, 1948. He was appointed lieutenant on Jan. 6, 1962 and captain on Nov. 21, 1964.

He and his wife, Ruth, live at 5 Grandview Avenue.

A Civil Service examination for chief of the department will be given in November of this year. Acting Chief Maines and Deputy Chief Greer are eligible to take the test.

Mayor Koenig is president of the Fire Board which also includes Morton Finch, Donald

Lefooters Schedule St. Patrick's Dance Friday

ST. PATRICK'S DANCE — Members of Lefooters Western Style Square Dance Club prepare for St. Patrick's dance on Friday at 8:30 p. m. at Hurley Reformed Church hall. Arranging decorations for the event are (L-R) Mrs. Joseph

Lefooters Western Style Square Dance Club will celebrate a special dance Friday at 8:30 p.m. in Hurley Reformed Church hall, off Route 209. All club level dancers are invited.

Special refreshments are being planned by hospitality chairmen, Nick and Rose Buonfiglio, and appropriate decorations should please the most ardent of St. Patrick's adherents.

Based on previous St. Patrick's Day dances, one can expect the unexpected in both refreshments and decor. The committees assure members that their efforts will be in keeping with the current ecumenical trend in this country. Approximately 80 per cent will be green for all permanent and temporary Irishmen, and the other 20 per cent will be orange.

The square dancing for the evening will be called by Don Blair, Westfield, Mass., club caller. A gala evening is anticipated. Lefooters invite all area square dancers to attend.

Dawn Service

At a recent meeting of the King's Daughters held at the home of Mrs. Joseph Nerone St., final plans were made for the annual Easter Dawn service and breakfast at Ponchokkie Congregational Church, 93 Abruyn Street at Delaware Avenue.

The 7 a.m. Dawn Service will be conducted by the Rev. Jeffrey A. Mackey. The Rev. Oney E. Cook will deliver the Easter Dawn message. King's Daughters will serve breakfast in the Sunday School rooms immediately after the Dawn Service.

The public is invited.

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Generally, when I write a quiz about table manners or table settings, it involves entertaining and "party manners." And entertaining is surely the occasion which gives rise to the most questions about how and when to do what. But even family meals can be made more pleasant and more attractive by dint of a little effort. It is worthwhile to make that effort, because dinner time is generally the only social "get-together" the family has each day. Can you answer the following questions with a "Yes?" If you can, you are combining practicality with good taste, and providing your family with the pleasantest of mealtimes.

1. Q. Do you always put some sort of place mat or table cloth on the table, even when you are eating in the kitchen?

2. Q. If you are tired of your same old plastic mats, and you don't have time to launder linen ones, do you buy a variety of disposable paper mats to add color to your table?

3. Q. Do you have a centerpiece on the table, and do you try to change it from time to time?

4. Q. Do you provide separate salad plates, so that salad dressing does not mix with gravy and other foods?

5. Q. When there are no extra guests, do you fill the plates in the kitchen to avoid using extra dishes?

6. Q. If you prefer to have your husband carve the meat at the table, do you serve the vegetables at the other end, to facilitate and speed up the serving?

7. Q. Do you have an electric hot plate in a convenient spot nearby so that the food can be kept hot for second helpings, without having to return it to the stove?

8. Q. Do you set the table with only the silver which is necessary for the courses to be served?

9. Q. Do you use butter plates if you are serving bread or rolls?

10. Q. When you are clearing the table, do you bring a dessert plate in from the kitchen each time you return from taking out a used plate?

11. Q. Do you insist that your youngsters take turns in helping to clear the table, rinse or wash dishes, and dry what cannot go in the dishwasher?

12. Q. Do you, for convenience sake, sit at the end of the table nearest the kitchen?

Some of the "yesses" may seem contrary to the rules of etiquette, but remember that practicality is important for smooth, efficient service, and all rules should be directed to making things easier and pleasanter, for the server as well as those served. The above questions might be answered quite differently in the household with servants, but when we are cook, waitress, and kitchen maid all in one, there is nothing alien to good taste in any of the "yes" answers.

Brubeck Benefit Will Highlight Philharmonic Fund-Raising Drive

The launching of the Spring Sustaining Fund Drive of the Philharmonic was announced by Fred McCurdy, president of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic. The highlight of the drive is the Brubeck Benefit Concert scheduled for March 26 at the Poughkeepsie High School. The concert features the Dave Brubeck Trio and Gerry Mulligan playing excerpts from Brubeck's own composition, "The Light in the Wilderness" with the Philharmonic during the first half of the evening and playing their own special brand of progressive jazz for the remainder. For this Benefit performance the members of the orchestra have donated their services as part of their contribution to the fund raising campaign.

The three councils of the Philharmonic, Dutchess, Orange and Ulster, have developed committees to solicit key businesses and individuals of the region.

In a letter requesting contributions Mr. McCurdy pointed out that while symphony orchestras all over the country are constantly threatened with collapse, the Hudson Valley Philharmonic has moved steadily forward toward both artistic and financial stability. "In fact," he stated further, "we are at the very top of the list of orchestras in the nation in the ratio of earned income to expenditures — 70 per cent to be exact."

The goal of the campaign is $75,000 to close the dollar gap between earned income and expenses, enabling the Philharmonic to move forward, have even better programming for the coming season and qualify for more government support.

The singing talents of Miss Terri Frances and Miss Muriel King will be on display, along with Exotic Dancer Melba, and more music will be supplied by Rick Stoppard's sensational group, Dimension Complex. A couple other great acts are also expected.

Twin Calves Are Not the Same as Human Beings

DEAR ABBY: I work on a farm on weekends, and the other day at work I was told that when a cow gives birth to twins, if one is a male and the other a female, both calves stand a 99 per cent chance of being sterile. But if both twins are males or females, they are okay.

Abby, I am a 16-year-old boy and my girl friend is 17. She has a twin brother, and when I told her what I had heard about cows she broke into tears for fear she may be sterile.

Could you please do a little research for us and find out if what applies to twin cows also applies to human twins?

Thank you
HOPING AGAINST IT

DEAR HOPING: When a cow gives birth to twin calves one male and one female, in slightly less than 15 per cent of the cases, the female twin is a "free-martin," meaning her reproductive organs will not develop. Tell your girl friend she has nothing to worry about. Cows are cows and humans are humans, and never the two shall meet.

DEAR ABBY: Why would a person laugh at his own jokes?

CURIOUS
DEAR CURIOUS: Maybe he just wants to make sure somebody laughs.

DEAR ABBY: I'm sure Mrs. Enduring is just as

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

unhappy with her life style as Mr. Enduring. If she could put her feelings into words she might tell us that Mr. Enduring showed very little interest in her personally until it was time for bed, secondly that his technique became more adventurous over the years but something was missing, such as love and affection, thirdly that the life of a wife with three children, who is cook, laundress, housekeeper, and chief decision maker is not exactly a life filled with erotic stimuli and that it takes a bit of doing to turn into something besides a drudge and it is not accomplished by slipping out of your apron.

Many husbands tire of coaxing wives and find themselves a willing partner elsewhere, usually someone who is not tied to the responsibilities of a house and family. Then the energy these eager men display is unbelievable; there are phone calls in the morning to see how the dear lady slept, phone calls at noon for an intimate lunch in a candlelit restaurant and thoughtful little tokens. Now really, how many wives wouldn't respond to this subtle courting? How many mistresses would be so generous with themselves if all the man did was be physically there? Try it, you'll like it!

Now, you are going to say, "Tell HIM, not ME!" But if you have to tell someone that you would like a few expressions of love and affection it loses all meaning.

I am not Mrs. Enduring, but I would love to know how many wives feel as I do. Or am I expecting too much of marriage?

STILL HOPING

get boxes of Christmas cards. Some of them are quite lovely, but we prefer to select our own cards.

Abby, what is one expected to do with these things? I know we are not legally obligated to pay for anything we did not order, and don't think I should have to spend my time and money to rewrap and mail back these things.

I just can't throw them into the fireplace. My Scotch instincts rebel against such waste. And I surely cannot use them. I would feel guilty.

So what do you suggest?

MRS. J. P.
DEAR MRS. J. P.: Give them to needy people who can use them. Then send a postcard to the organizations that sent them to you, telling them how you have disposed of their merchandise, and requesting that your name be removed from their mailing list. (And if they send you more stuff, repeat the procedure.)

CONFIDENTIAL TO A.J. IN ATLANTA: Don't mail the earrings back to the gentleman's wife without first asking the gentleman. (Maybe the lady who left them wasn't his wife.)

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Cookies Rich in Food Nutrients

The hippy-hoppity Easter Bunny will surprise the young fry with baskets filled with Peanut Butter Easter Eggs, Chicks and Bunny Cookies. Cookies made rich and good with peanut butter, one of the youngsters' favorite foods, will bring them great pleasure. When molded and cut into novel shapes and decorated with imagination, the giggles will take over.

Brown sugar and spice along with smooth Peter Pan Peanut Butter give the Easter Egg Cookies a delicious combination of flavors. The dough is molded into oval egg shapes about one and one-half inches long and an inch thick. The chicks and bunny cutouts are a shortbread type of cookie that has such a delightful texture plus the good peanut butter flavor. The dough is rolled out to about one-quarter inch thickness and then cut with chick or bunny cookie cutters. When baked and cooled both the Easter Eggs and the cutouts can be frosted with powdered sugar frosting and decorated.

Good things, even Easter cookies, always get better with peanut butter as it is rich in not only flavor but food nutrients such as protein, thiamin and niacin.

Peter Pan Shortbread Cutouts

Yield: four dozen cookies
One-half cup Smooth Peter Pan Peanut Butter
One and one-half cups sifted flour
One-half cup sugar
One stick (one-half cup) butter
Two tablespoons light corn syrup
Combine flour and sugar. Cut in peanut butter and butter with pastry blender or two knives, until mixture looks like coarse meal. Add corn syrup and mix thoroughly. Roll dough into one-quarter inch thickness on lightly floured board and cut in shape of Easter cookies. Frost with powdered sugar frosting or frosting in a tube.

Peanut Butter Easter Eggs

Yield: Three and one-half dozen cookies

One cup Smooth Peter Pan Peanut Butter
One cup butter
One cup firmly packed brown sugar

Two eggs
Two teaspoons vanilla
Three cups sifted flour
One-half teaspoon salt
One-half to three-quarter teaspoon cinnamon

Cream peanut butter with butter. Gradually add sugar. Beat in eggs and vanilla. Sift together flour, salt and cinnamon. Stir into peanut butter mixture. Shape dough into one and one-half inches long and a inch thick egg shapes. Place on cookie sheet. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) eight to 10 minutes. Frost with colored powdered sugar frosting and decorate with frosting in tubes.

EASTER COOKIES

PIQUANT SALAD, a cool and refreshing gelatin salad made with apple juice, mayonnaise and crisp vegetables . . . a perfect complement for the Easter ham.

Ham and . . . Apple Sauce or Juice, of Course!

The origin of serving ham at Easter is lost in ancient history, but we do know the early settlers in Virginia learned how to smoke hams from the Indians . . . and they in turn had learned the technique from the still earlier Spanish explorers in Florida.

With a richly glazed Easter ham, apple sauce is always an appropriate accompaniment. For a decorative touch, spoon each serving of apple sauce into a cup made from the peel of half an orange. Top with stemmed maraschino cherries and use these to garnish the ham platter, too.

Or prepare a cool gelatin salad made with tangy apple juice. When mixed with mayonnaise, diced cucumber, celery, red cabbage and pimiento, the rich apple flavor blends the various distinct elements into a taste-pleasing whole.

Another good thing about a gelatin salad is that it can be made the day before, so there's no more fuss at dinner time than unmolding it onto a platter for table or buffet. The same gelatin and apple juice mixture may also be chilled in individual molds and served ahead at each person's place to eliminate the passing of another dish.

So whatever your Easter meal, a cool apple juice and vegetable salad can be perfectly served as the accompaniment for the ham.

Piquant Salad

One envelope unflavored gelatin
Two cups apple juice
One-quarter teaspoon salt
One-half cup mayonnaise
One cup grated Cheddar cheese
One-half cup diced unpeeled cucumber
One-half cup chopped celery
One-half cup shredded red cabbage
Two tablespoons diced pimiento
One teaspoon grated onion

Sprinkle gelatin over one-quarter cup of the apple juice. Let stand five minutes. Heat remaining apple juice; add to softened gelatin with salt. Stir until dissolved. Beat in mayonnaise. Chill until slightly thickened. Stir in remaining ingredients. Pour into one-quart mold or individual molds. Chill until firm. To unmold, dip mold into warm (not hot) water for just a few seconds and invert onto serving platter. Makes one quart or four servings.

For eight servings, use three and one-half cups apple juice and double the other ingredients.

Mustard Apple Sauce

It's a simple trick to make this good mustardy sauce for ham. Mix together two cups canned apple sauce, one-quarter cup prepared mustard and one teaspoon celery seed. Allow to chill for several hours or overnight to blend flavors.

Apple-Berry Relish

Cranberries add a good tart flavor accent when served with ham. This is a colorful addition to an Easter meal. Mix together 2 and one-half cups canned apple sauce, one can (eight ounce) whole berry cranberry sauce, one tablespoon grated orange rind, one-quarter cup sugar and one-half cup toasted slivered almonds. Then chill 'til serving time.

EASTER APPLE RELISHES

Spicy Apple Raisin Relish
Add the zip of horseradish to canned apple sauce along with celery and raisins, and you have a perfect accompaniment for ham. Just mix two cups canned apple sauce with one-half cup each diced celery and raisins. Stir in two tablespoons red cinnamon candies and two tablespoons horseradish. Chill for a few hours. The candies will dissolve.

Pickled Apple Sauce
Here's a good accent for ham. Simmer these

Hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

Does your husband have a bunch of those "skinny" ties still hanging on his tie rack?

I have an idea of how to use them.

If you have a pants suit that you think would look better with a belt, or you would like to change it a little, just select a tie.

I feel certain you will find one to go with the suit.

Some of those ties are so pretty and you'll have a beautiful belt with no trouble and no sewing.

Virginia Denny

DEAR HELOISE:

My husband had a galvanized tin receptacle made to hold the white gravel on which our fireplace stands. This left a dull silver side exposed on the outside rim.

I covered this exposed rim with adhesive-backed paper in a wood grain design that matches the living room paneling.

It looks ever so much better.

Mrs. S.G.

DEAR HELOISE:

Never throw away those plastic tops from large cans of coffee.

I put them under pots and skillets when I soak them in the kitchen sink. Keeps the sink from getting scratched up.

I also staple some of them together, joining them at the rims.

I place this mat upside down on a shelf. This makes a nice, flat surface and protects the shelf from pans. Easy to wash and economical, too.

LETTER OF LOVE

Dear Heloise:

I find great ideas and lots of help in your column. Thanks for the good you're doing, and have done!

A.H.G.

Dear Heloise:

When paring a number of different vegetables for salads, soups or stews, always clean the celery last. It will remove any objectionable odors from your hands.

J.B.

DEAR HELOISE:

When my little granddaughter started in kindergarten, we were faced with her having to take a certain amount of money each week for the milk she drank every day.

I finally hit upon the idea of cutting a 3x5 unruled card in half, putting her name on each half and taping the amount of money she needed to it.

She could simply hand the little card to the teacher without wondering if she had lost the change en route to school.

Ulster Meets Hutchinson Tonight

Perry: 'We Didn't Embarrass Ourselves'

By STEVE KANE HUTCHINSON, Kansas — It was the morning after the night before and the faces around the Ulster County Community College basketball team's breakfast table were calmer, more serious.

"I've never been up by 16 and lost by 10." Those were the words of Mike Perry, the coach of the Cinderella Senator squad which had kept all its illusions intact through one half of their first game ever in the National Junior College Athletic Association basketball tournament then lost it in the second session.

There was no shame attached to the defeat to Southern Idaho, just disappointment. For 20 minutes the Senators had made believers of the crowd of 7,000 hoop buffs who had come to watch the mighty mite. Victor Kelly, put on his one-man show. It took Kelly until the intermission to get himself into gear and then he came out and hit on 10 of 13 attempts from the field in one of the most unstoppable displays of offense ever witnessed here.

Perry said, "I've never had one man destroy us like that. And the crowd was behind him — that had to be a factor. Anytime you have all those people cheering every time you make a move, it's bound to get the adrenalin flowing."

Region XV director Bob Lake felt pretty much the same way, but he tempered his remarks with this comment: "It wasn't that the crowd was anti-Ulster, they just were cheering the smallest guy in the tournament."

"The only consolation we have now is that we didn't embarrass ourselves against all this scholarship talent," said Perry. "We actually earned some respect after that first half."

Remarks in the stands even after the game confirmed Perry's feelings. Most of the spectators felt this was the best Region XV team ever to play here, and Henry Nixon's contention that the loss was "an act of fate" had some support from that quarter.

El Evans, the coach of the Dutchess Community Falcons who made the trip as Perry's assistant noted that he "was elated at the half. But being a pessimist I was afraid. I thought we had them when they went to a zone, but it takes time to acclimate to a new defense, and we couldn't do it in time."

The competition at this tournament is so rugged it takes a top effort by any team to win a game. The Senators are in the unique position of trying to accomplish this without a superstar.

"We need a team effort, and for a half we got it," said Perry. "If we had to do it over," he continued, "the only thing I'd do differently is go more to Link." Coleman Link, the UCCC center, had a fine game, but was shut off in the second half.

So now Ulster is in the losers' bracket and will play Hutchinson Junior College tonight at 7 p.m. EST. Hutchinson is the host team and the crowd will be against Ulster again. To top it off, Perry says of Hutchinson, "I've never seen so much talent."

But all is not gloom in the Ulster camp. This Senator team is primarily made up of freshmen, and although the pressure has been telling on a starting five of which three players never played high school ball, they have finally "come down from the clouds."

"So are the kids have behaved well," said Perry. "If we put together two good halves like the one the other night, we'll be alright."

The Senators will head into next year almost intact. A good shooting forward will make Perry's plans for '73 complete, but Region XV will be tougher than ever.

"The coaches are finding out that you can't win with just local talent and they're starting to go out and get the right help," Perry already has them.

Coleman Link, for one, has a strong conviction. "We'll be kids," he said.

Unbeaten and No. 1 ranked Vincennes, Ind., ran its victory string to 31 Wednesday night in a quarter final game of the NJCAA tourney, defeating Paducah, Ky., 96-85.

It put the Indiana club in Friday night's semi-finals of the winner's bracket.

Butch Taylor scored eight points in two overtimes to pull Gulf Coast of Panama City, Fla., to an 89-86 decision over Casper, Wyoming, and also advance to the semis.

The score was tied 72-72 at the end of regulation. Then Taylor went to work and pulled it out in the second extra period. He finished with 21 points to lead all scoring.

No. 2 ranked Dalton, Ga., eliminated State Fair of Deale, Mo., 90-83, in a losers' bracket game. Charles Palmer hit 26 points for Dalton and Jim Lassiter tallied 25 for the Sedalia team.

Two first round games were played Wednesday as well.

Tyler, Texas, ran away from Robert Morris of Carthage, Ill., 95-79 and Seminole, Okla., defeated Southeastern Iowa of Burlington, 59-63.

The Texans jumped ahead at the start and held a comfortable margin throughout on the 33-point shooting of Jerry Ahart, Charles McKinney got 26 and Jack James 20. Carthage was led by Don Louis with 19.

John Moody of the Burlington Blackhaws netted 27 points to lead all scorers. Seminole's Greg McDougall contributed 17.

NCAA Cagers Offer Yawns, Suspense

By United Press International championship. But for those who prefer conservative basketball fans who like their endings straight and proper can turn toward Provo, Utah, tonight, where that old reliable machine from UCLA figures to continue its smooth passage to an unprecedented sixth consecutive NCAA championship.

The setting for all the action is Round Two of the NCAA basketball championship, with four doubleheaders on tap at as many sites tonight. The two winners in each section will meet Saturday for the right to advance to the semi-finals in Los Angeles the following weekend.

Only UCLA, carrying a perfect 26-0 record and the unanimous choice as the country's No. 1 team in the final UPI ratings, figures as a runaway favorite tonight against 18-9 Weber State. In the second game of the doubleheader, it will be sixth-ranked Long Beach State against the University of San Francisco.

Most of the evening's fireworks are expected at Morgantown, with second-ranked North Carolina meeting No. 5 South Carolina and third-ranked Pennsylvania going against crosstown Philadelphia rival Villanova, which is rated 15th.

Marquette, the No. 7 team in the country and lucky just to be in the NCAA after nearly being expelled earlier this week, takes on 14th-ranked Kentucky in the first half of a doubleheader at Dayton, Ohio, with the nightcap pairing Big 10 champion Minnesota, the No. 12 ranking team, and 10th ranked Florida State.

In the final doubleheader at Ames Iowa, it will be fourth-ranked Louisville against eighth-ranked Southwestern Louisiana and 16th-ranked Kansas State against Texas.

Weber State won the Big Sky conference championship and then earned its date against UCLA by upsetting Hawaii, 91-64, last weekend. Wildcat Coach Gene Visscher isn't conceding anything to the Bruins, and there's always the possibility that the 4,200 foot altitude of Provo could upset UCLA.

"We've got nothing to lose," Visscher said. "My boys are relaxed. They know they don't have to prove anything. We'll play our style of ball and see what happens."

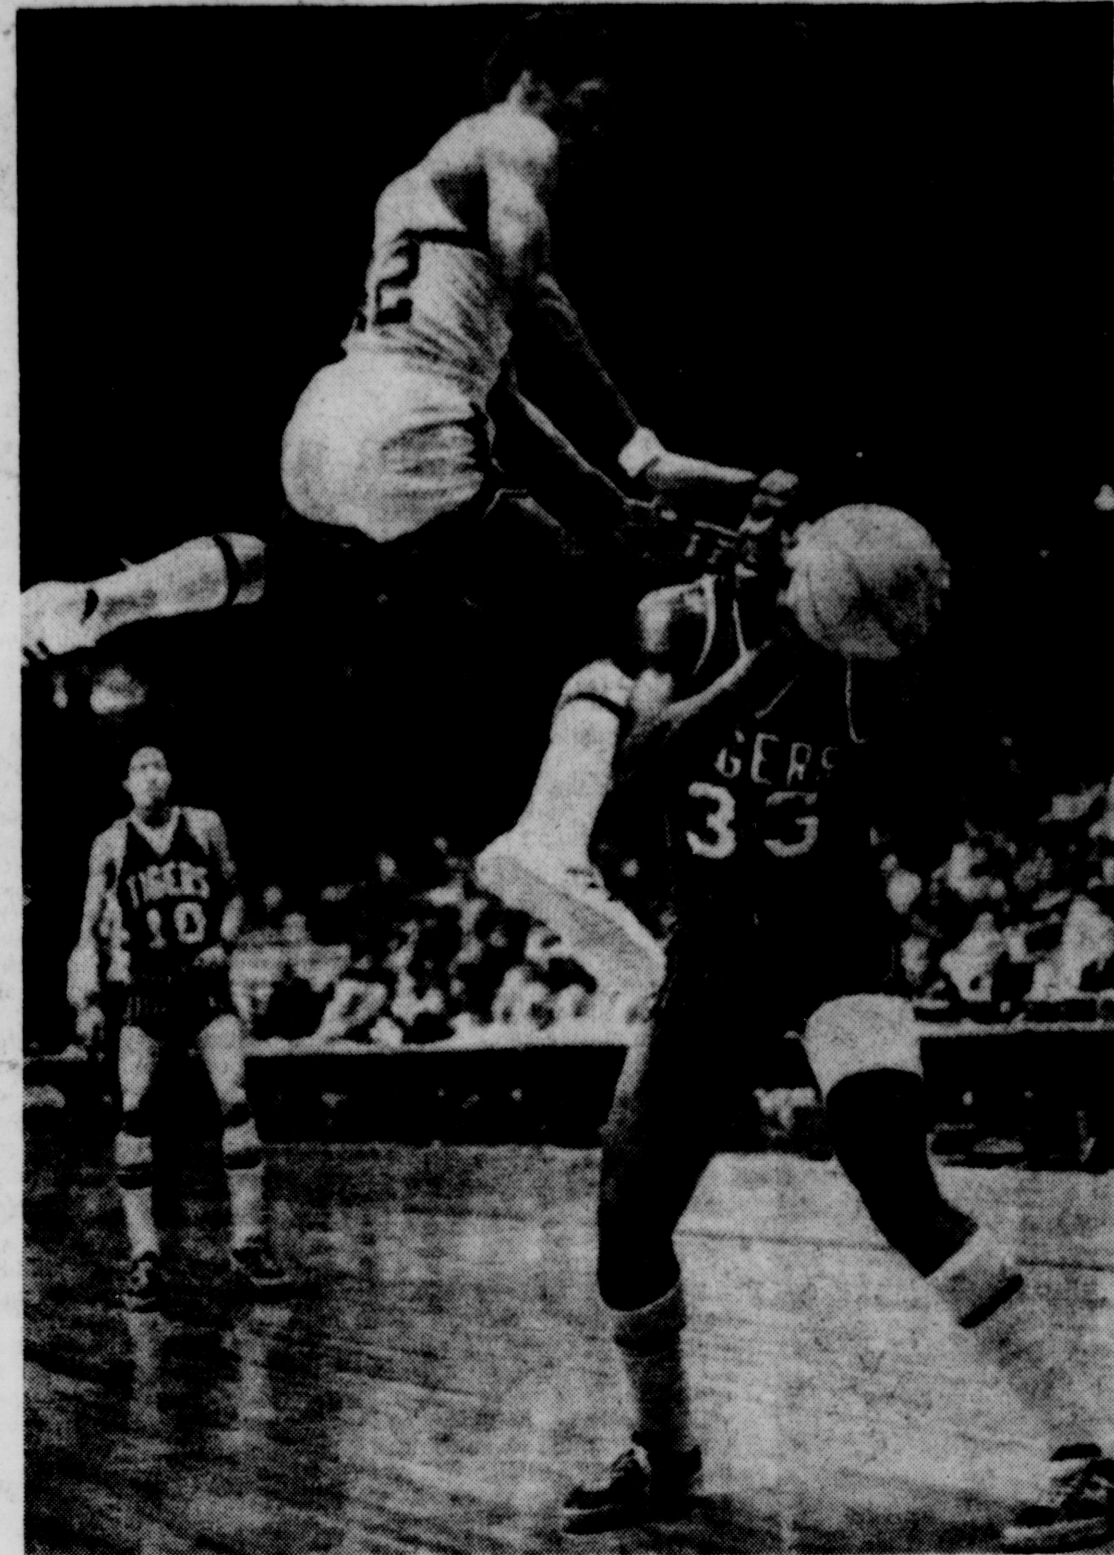

Pennsylvania went through the 1970-71 regular season unscathed until being routed by Villanova, 90-47, in NCAA play, and now the Quakers are carrying a 15-game winning streak against their old rivals. Penn Coach Chuck Daly said he didn't plan to remind his players of last year's loss, saying, "I guess we've all thought about it. We feel now that perhaps we were a little overconfident, that we just weren't ready to play that day."

North Carolina also has a score to settle with South Carolina, having lost to the Gamecocks, 52-51, in last year's championship game of the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament.

Kentucky Coach Adolph Rupp, sending his Wildcats into NCAA play for the 20th time in his fabled career, said he's optimistic for the game against Marquette, which wound up the season at 24-2 but lost its big man when Jim Chones signed a professional contract.

"I'm optimistic, but we just don't have any depth," Rupp said. "It's going to take luck on top of luck and hitting good on top of hitting good if we're going to win."

Two of the nation's finest guards will be matched at Ames, with first-team All America Dwight Lamar of Southwestern Louisiana going against Louisville's Jim Price, a second-team selection. Lamar averaged 36.6 points per game in leading the Cajuns to a 24-3 record.

Suns' Fans Like Scott

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL Charlie Scott made his National Basketball Association debut Wednesday night and Phoenix fans came away pleased. Scott, who was leading the American Basketball Association in scoring before he jumped to the NBA Suns last week, scored 11 points in 22 minutes to help Phoenix to a 110-106 victory over the Milwaukee Bucks.

Connie Hawkins, another former ABA star who defected to the NBA, played the major role in the upset, however, hitting 13 of his 27 shots in the last 10 minutes to rally the Suns from a four-point deficit.

Neal Walk added 17 points for Phoenix while Kareem Abdul-Jabbar led the Bucks with 36 points.

Elsewhere, the Boston Celtics defeated the Philadelphia 76ers 120-115, the Atlanta Hawks crushed the Seattle SuperSonics 134-96 and the Los Angeles Lakers beat the Cincinnati Royals 121-116.

Dave Cowens scored 17 of his 24 points in the final period as Boston downed the 76ers to clinch at least a tie for the Atlantic Division title. Cowens broke a 104-104 tie with little more than five minutes left and then hit the next six Boston points to push the Celtics to a 112-106 lead. John Havlicek led Boston with 36 points while Cunningham had 22 and Fred Carter 30 for the 76ers.

Walton Leads AP All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Walton, UCLA's lantern-jawed tower of strength, and Dwight Lamar, the nation's leading scorer from Southwestern Louisiana, were named today to the Associated Press' 1971-72 All-America basketball team.

The two stars, both dominating forces in their regions, were joined by Ed Ratleff of Long Beach State, Jim Chones of Marquette's and Tom Riker of South Carolina.

Walton, a 6-foot-11 center and the only sophomore on the first team, has been compared favorably to Kareem Abdul-Jabbar (nee Lew Alcindor) and Bill Russell in their college days.

"I've never seen a player who makes the outlet pass and starts the fast break as well," said UCLA Coach John Wooden, who coached Jabbar and saw Russell play at San Francisco.

Lamar, one of the best shooters in the country in recent history, could become the only player to win the scoring title in both the college and university divisions. The 6-foot-1 ace was the college division leader last season when the Ragin' Cajuns were in that class and appears well on his way this year now that they've stepped up to major college status. He's averaging 36.7 a game in his junior year.

Ratleff, a junior guard who averaged almost 22 points a game this year, also was one of the team's toughest rebounders. Strong and quick at 6-6, Ratleff has been described as the best college guard in America since the day of Oscar Robertson and Jerry West.

The 6-11 Chones was Marquette's big strength before signing with the New York Knicks of the American Basketball Association late in the season. Before leaving college, he scored almost 21 points and averaged 12 rebounds in 21 games of his junior season.

The 6-10 Riker, the only senior on the big team, was an outstanding forward in clutch situations. He averaged nearly 20 points and 10 rebounds a game.

"He's the best pro prospect in the country," said South Carolina Coach Frank McGuire of the beefy Riker.

Based on votes from sports writers and broadcasters around the nation, the second team All-America included Barry Parkhill of Virginia, Dwight Davis of Houston, Jim Price of Louisville, Henry Bibby of UCLA and Robert McAdoo of North Carolina.

The third team included Richie Fuqua of Oral Roberts; Princeton's Brian Taylor; Maryland's Tom McMillen; Bud Stallworth of Kansas, and Wil Robinson of West Virginia.

Harris Hits 20 In Havens' Win

KINGSTON John Harris led with 20 points, as six players hit in double figures in Pinks Haven's 89-62 victory over Van Loan's in the YMCA "B" Basketball League.

John Melnick added 13, Senator 15, Barton and Fitzgerald 12 each and Cook 10. Three Van Loan's wound up with 15 points —Tom Rhinehardt, Tom McGowan and Harry Hughes.

KBT Lists Strong Eight-Team Field

KINGSTON — If Felicello's Pipers of Marlboro hope to repeat as Kingston Basketball Tournament champions, they'll have to do it against the strongest field in the history of the classic.

That's the prediction of Andy Murphy, superintendent of recreation and director of the 20th annual tournament which gets underway Saturday at 7:15 p.m. at the municipal auditorium.

Challenging the Pipers will be a field that includes the Nite Caps, Carp's Raiders, Rosendale All-Stars, Hyde Park Inn, DeMico's Motors, Newburgh CWA and Peekskill Outcasts.

"On the basis of tentative rosters submitted to date," said Murphy, "this has to rate as the finest array of high school and collegiate talent ever to play in our tournament. Newburgh, for example, will be spearheaded by the famed ex-NFA and Rockland County CC twosome of Wade Pittman and Larry Frazier.

DeMico's Motors of Kingston will be handled by John Julian of Spring Valley, who will come to Kingston with an all-metropolitan roster.

In Saturday night's opener at 7:15 p.m., the Pipers launch their defense against the Nite Caps, with Hyde Park Inn going against DeMico Motors at 8:30 p.m.

The Sunday night twinbill pairs Carp's Raiders against Rosendale at 7:15 p.m. and CWA against the Peekskill Outcasts at 8:30 p.m.

The Pipers have virtually the same lineup that won the 1971 renewal, including the tournament's MVP, Steve Aurigemma, John Sileno, Dick O'Neil, Billy Gray and Tony Messeri.

The Nite Caps are mostly outstanding Poughkeepsie performers such as Jim Powell, Gary Mendez, Deke Johnson, Joe Molinaro and Larry McClinton.

The Hyde Park roster features two standouts in Fred Weiss and Bob O'Connor. Both are tournament-tested players well known to local fans.

Carp's Raiders will feature several players who have been outstanding in the Kingston-Saugerties area, among them Larry Marcus, Saugerties High School coach; Ron Thomas, Jerry Hawkins and Rich Koegel.

The Rosendale All-Stars are expected to build their offense around Tom Tegeler and Bob Rossier.

DeMico's will have a definite collegiate flavor in their roster. Among the early players who are scheduled to appear are Mel Knight, 6-6 forward from Seton Hall, Junior Foy, a Seton Hall backcourt man and Ted Martinez of St. Peter's of New Jersey, the 13th leading college scorer in the nation this season.

Coach Julian also has available Frank Martinez, who played with the University of Vermont; A. J. Murphy, ex-Siena College; John Zuvic, also of Siena and Ed Strong, a former St. Peter's ace who was the tournament MVP two years ago.

Peekskill's top operators are Percy Gilcrest, Bruce Vogt and Jay Dowling.

Hank Aaron Likes the Pressure

By United Press International

Hank Aaron made his spring debut for the Atlanta Braves Wednesday and let it be known in his quiet way that he is Sox a 2.0 triumph over the Cardinals. Rick Wise, Jerry Koosman, Ken Singleton, Steve Carlton, allowed one hit, one run, one walk in five innings.

Aaron, who will start the 1972 season needing 75 homers to surpass Ruth's career total, singled, grounded out and was called out on strikes in the Braves' 4-0 loss to the Houston Astros. Aaron, 38, looked as sharp as he did last season when he batted .327 with 47 homers and 118 runs batted in.

"No doubt I'll start feeling the pressure as I get closer and closer to Ruth's record," said Aaron after the game. "But I like pressure. I seem to play better when there's something at stake. It's times like when we are out of the race and I have nothing in particular to shoot for that I find myself letting down."

"I felt fine out there," said Aaron, who added the knee which bothered him last season gave him no trouble. "It felt good to be back out there. No matter how long I play, I always look to getting started again."

Aaron, under-publicized during his career compared to stars like Willie Mays and Mickey Mantle, is beginning to get a taste of the pressures which will be brought on him as he approaches Ruth's mark. He's been besieged by requests for public appearances and interviews since arriving in West Palm Beach, Fla., two weeks ago.

In other camps: Don Sutton, who went five innings, and Claude Osteen combined on a five-hitter as the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Montreal Expos, 5-0. Dodger pitching has allowed one run in the last three games. Gaylord Perry, acquired during the winter in the trade that sent Sam McDowell to San Francisco, pitched six shutout innings in the Cleveland Indians' 8-2 win over the San Diego Padres.

Paul Blair singled in the decisive run in the ninth inning as the Baltimore Orioles defeated the Cincinnati Reds 4-3 despite two homers and three runs batted in by Johnny Bench.

The Chicago Cubs routed the Tokyo Orions, 11-2, after being hitless for 5-1-3 innings by 38-year-old Masaaka Koyama. Homers by Aurelio Rodriguez and Norm Cash led the Detroit Tigers to a 6-2 victory over the Kansas City Royals.

Catcher Carlton Fisk hit a five runs off Joe Horlen in the Pittsburgh Pirates, 9-4.

Jim Perry allowed four hits for the Chicago White Sox, 8-6, in five innings and rookies Greg Mowbray and Tom Norton combined to shutout the Minnesota Twins, 3-0. It was a 12-1 romp over the New York Yankees' ninth loss and California Angeles.

The Philadelphia Phillies scored the fifth shutout in 13 exhibition games. Rick Auerbach had four hits in four trips in the Milwaukee Brewers' 9-4 win over the Giants. Bobby Brooks' two homers and the single led the Oakland Athletics to a 12-1 romp over the New York Yankees, 3-0. It was a 12-1 romp over the New York Yankees' ninth loss and California Angeles.

and 19-0, respectively. Several Kansas City players were absent when the vote was taken.

"I can't speak for other clubs, but, frankly, I wouldn't give a damn if the players went out," said Busch, 72-year-old board chairman of Anheuser-Busch. "I'd vote to let them take a walk."

"I appreciate this could be a considerable blow to other ball clubs who don't have our corporate structure," said Busch, estimating that a strike could cost the Cardinals $1.5 million. "But I'm afraid that with the constantly increasing player demands, plus the attempt to rule out the reserve clause, it's getting impossible to operate reasonably."

Asked if he would hesitate about buying into baseball as he did 19 years ago when the brewery purchased the Cardinals, Busch answered:

"No, I'd still be willing to gamble because I love baseball as so many others do. It's the greatest American sport. The only thing is that I believe we've got to draw a line somewhere and in my judgment it ought to be now."

"The ball clubs have been as fair as we can in providing terrific salaries, a great pension plan and everything while trying not to raise ticket prices," Busch concluded.

The ball clubs, contributing $5,450,000 a year now to the pension fund, have offered to increase their contribution $250,000 for one year or $350,000 for four.

Busch Takes Hard Line

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI)—August A. Busch, Jr., president of the St. Louis Cardinals, made it plain in blunt language Wednesday that he feels the time has come for major league clubowners to have a showdown with the Major League Players Association.

"I don't give a damn if they strike," said Busch when asked to comment on the players' threat to walk out if baseball doesn't provide more money for the health benefits of the players pension plan after the current three-year contract expires on March 31.

The association is currently conducting a strike vote and the Detroit Tigers and Kansas City Royals voted Wednesday for a strike by counts of 25-0 and 19-0, respectively. Several Kansas City players were absent when the vote was taken.

"I can't speak for other clubs, but, frankly, I wouldn't give a damn if the players went out," said Busch, 72-year-old board chairman of Anheuser-Busch. "I'd vote to let them take a walk."

Can Rangers Retain Second?

CHICAGO (AP) — The New York Rangers' hold on second place in the National Hockey League's Eastern division was trimmed to 2 points Wednesday night and Coach Emile Francis didn't try to hide his concern.

"Not only does it put us in a tough spot as far as holding down second is concerned," Francis said. "The two losses also kept us from pressuring Boston in first place."

The Rangers dropped a 3-1 decision Wednesday to the Chicago Black Hawks, their second loss in a row. It also marked the first time since March 1971 that the New Yorkers lost two games in a row.

"We were getting close until we hit this rough spell," Francis said of his team's recent slump. Montreal moved within 2 points of the sagging Rangers by beating the Toronto Maple Leafs 5-2 Wednesday night.

Francis said the 15 shots New York fired at Hawk goalie Tony Esposito were "the fewest we've had that I can remember." Chicago managed 21 shots on goalie Ed Giacomin with tallies by Stan Mikita, Pittsburgh's Cliff Koroll.

But Francis said the total shots on goal didn't reflect the superb goaltending of Giacomin and Esposito. Giacomin stopped Stan Mikita's 10-foot blast on a penalty shot early in the second period.

A few moments later, Rod Gilbert pulled the Rangers even at 1-1 with his 42nd goal of the year. Koroll pushed the Hawks back in front at 12:20 of the second period when he fired a 40-footer past the New York goaltender.

Martin scored a short-handed goal to clinch the victory in the third period for Chicago. Hawk defenseman Doug Jarrett was serving a hooking penalty at the time.

Francis said, however, that there should have been a whistle a few seconds before

Martin scored the goal because Mikita threw the puck across the Chicago blue line.

"Everybody but Ashley (referee John Ashley) saw Mikita throw the puck," said Francis. "There were two or three players between him (Ashley) and Mikita and he just couldn't see what happened."

New York travels to Detroit for a contest against the Red Wings tonight. Chicago meets Toronto on Saturday.

In other National Hockey League action Wednesday, Montreal Canadiens trounced the Toronto Maple Leafs 5-2 and California beat Los Angeles by the same margin.

Legalized Sports Betting

Kuhn Opposes It

Extension of legalized gambling beyond the boundaries of Nevada would be undesirable and seminar of the mid-winter dangerous to professional sports conference of the National Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said the strong opposition of his office to legalized gambling was wholeheartedly shared by the commissioners of professional football, basketball and hockey.

"Recognizing the problems attendant to protecting the integrity of professional sports, we are unified in our complete opposition to the extension of legalized gambling in this country," Kuhn said.

"If you have widespread public gambling, it will follow as the night the day that claims will be made that this player or that player was in the tank. And you can be sure attempts to get inside information and attempts to fix players and officials will multiply enormously and pose tremendous security problems," he added.

Kuhn said extensive study of sports scandals arising from wide open gambling abroad—fixed games, bribed officials etc.—has been "absolutely shocking."

"You can rest assured that all of us concerned with preserving the integrity of professional sports will fight legalization of gambling with every legal and public relations measure available," he said.

He emphatically disagreed with advocates of legalization who claim government control of open gambling would cut down crime and provide substantially increased revenue to political entities from license fees and taxes.

Salvino Blasts 300 Game, Sets Early Pace in Miller

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—Carmen Salvino, 38-year old Chicagoan looking for his first Professional Bowlers Association win since 1968, fired a perfect 300 game Wednesday night en route to taking over the lead after 12 games in the $80,000 Miller Open Bowling Tournament. The perfect game, combined with games of 193, 194, 237, 249 and 239, was the fourth in Salvino's career and gave him an average of 231 after Friday's rounds will vie after the first two blocks. His 2,776 total led the field by 72 pins. The 300 game came between his 249 and 239 scores.

Barry Warshafsky, Watertown, Mass., and Norm Meyers were co-leaders after the opening six-game block Wednesday afternoon with 1,389 totals. But Meyers slipped to fifth place with a 2,671 and Warshafsky dropped all the way out of the top 24.

Holding second place going into Thursday's final qualifying round was Skee Foremsky with a 2,704 total. Barry Asher and Paul Colwell were tied for fourth at 2,691.

The field of 192 bowlers will be cut to 24 after another six games Thursday afternoon and match play will start later in the day. The top five bowlers will vie for the $12,000 top prize in Saturday's nationally televised finals.

Aqueduct Blackout Continues

NEW YORK (UPI)—The strike by parimutuel clerks at Aqueduct Racetrack went into its 10th day today as a state lawmaker accused the New York State Racing Association (NYRA) of making the clerks the "scapegoat" in its dispute with the city's Off-Track Betting Corp.

Assemblyman John T. Flack, R-Queens, said Wednesday he intended to ask Controller Arthur Levitt to investigate the NYRA.

"New York State is losing about $300,000 a day in parimutuel revenues because of the shutdown at Aqueduct," Flack said.

The strike began when the NYRA laid off 75 clerks, claiming OTB had cut into track revenues resulting in poor economic condition at the track.

Flack, however, said the "jockey club" which runs the association is not concerned with racing in the state and that "the best horses and stables are leaving New York for the south."

This, he said, was the "reason for NYRA's troubles. OTB is not to blame."

There were no talks Wednesday between the two sides, although Meyer Drucker said he would hold "private conversations" with both sides today.

WHY WE CAN'T SELL YOU A SMALL VOLVO.

Volvos are built in Sweden where, as you see, the high growth rate is measured in feet as well as economic output. Since Sweden is not a little man's country, it would make little sense for Volvo to be his car. The Volvos in our showroom were designed to accommodate knees without scrunching and heads without banging. Which means that if you come to us looking for something in a small Volvo, we'll have to disappoint you.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

SAYING YES: (Q.) When a boy asks a girl for a date, shouldn't she be able to go ahead and say yes? When a boy asks me, and I want to say yes, I have to tell him, "I have to ask my mother first."

"I'm 16 now and this is most embarrassing. — Can't Decide in Ohio.

(A.) Have a talk with your mother and try to get a working agreement on ground rules for dating.

You and she should decide on how often you can date, what nights or days, how late, where you can go, and any other details you or she think are important.

Then you should be free, within the limits set, to accept a date with a boy without consulting her.

You would be responsible for abiding by the rules. You are old enough for such responsibility. If you break a rule you should expect to have some of your privileges taken away.

PIERCED EARS: (Q.) I had my ears pierced three months ago and I think the minute I take my earrings out the holes start growing shut. If I leave them out more than half an hour it's hard to get them back in. Do you think this is right? — Puzzled in Pennsylvania.

(A.) Your piercings do seem to be unusual. By now you should have no trouble with closure. Try keeping the posts in full time until the holes stabilize.

But if there is any irritation or other sign of possible infection, take them out and go back to your doctor.

Good Danny Thomas Hour

NEW YORK (AP) — Danny Thomas, who keeps his hand in television these days as a guest star on other people's shows, had a special of his own Wednesday night on ABC.

The star sang a couple of songs and tried a few jokes but for the most part played the rather subdued host to his guest stars and—most unusual—straight man for other people's jokes.

The device on which the hour was built was as old as Jack Benny, who may have invented it: Danny came out to announce he wanted the audience to see the troubles he had during rehearsals of the show. The rest was a flashback to the rehearsals and the comedy sketches.

There was a department store number with Don Knotts playing a consumer fraud investigator on the prowl for sharp practice, wearing pantyhose in pursuit of duty.

Another kidded TV commercial with a production number starring dancer Juliet Prowse and a chorus doing a miniature Busby Berkeley routine in the lounge of what appeared to be a plane wider and longer than a 747. Miss Prowse and Totie Fields—who seems to have replaced Phyllis Diller this season as the busiest travel show circuit—demonstrated what life would be like if women became hooked on TV sports. The ladies drank beer and cheered as the men in their lives wore aprons and fretted about the roast in the oven. It was as familiar as Danny's introduction: "I'm not against women's lib, but . . ."

Until the last sketch, Bob Hope almost literally telephoned in his part. A continuation of TV's medical series, playing gag had Hope telephoning a superstar doctor.

ITT President Back on Stand

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Judiciary Committee called the president of International Telephone and Telegraph back to the witness stand today to explain why his firm destroyed records of its Washington lobbyist, Dita D. Beard, a charge made by a subcommittee of the committee Wednesday by acknowledging that company security agents ran the records through a shredder. His testimony confirmed a charge made by columnist Jack Anderson. It was publication of a confidential memorandum by Mrs. Beard that set off a wide-ranging investigation into how the government settled out of court a billion dollar antitrust case against ITT.

Mrs. Beard linked the settlement to a $400,000 ITT contribution to help underwrite the Republican National Convention in San Diego, Colo. Beard is in a Denver, Colo., hospital undergoing treatment for a heart condition. A six-member subcommittee will take direct testimony from Mrs. Beard in her hospital room in Denver Monday.

Confirmation at Stake
At stake in the investigation is the confirmation of Richard G. Kleindienst as attorney general. Anderson accused Kleindienst of lying when he said he did not have anything to do with settlement of the antitrust case.

Golda Meir Rejects King Hussein's Plan

By United Press International
Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir today rejected a plan by King Hussein of Jordan to create a semi-autonomous Palestinian state under his sovereignty with Jerusalem as its capital. "His plan cannot be used as a basis for peace with Israel," she said.

Mrs. Meir told a packed session of the Knesset (parliament) Hussein's plan "does not offer us peace. Peace is not even mentioned. The king assumes he can act unilaterally and not take Israel into consideration."

Hussein outlined his plan Wednesday. It would set up two states, one in what is now Jordan and the other in the area west of the Jordan River. That area, including Jerusalem, was taken from Jordan during the 1967 war and still is occupied by them.

In outlining the plan, the 37-year-old Jordanian monarch said it could not be implemented until Israel withdrew its forces from the west bank area it now holds.

Damascus Radio said in a broadcast today that Syria, Egypt and Libya—members of the Arab Federation—will confer with Palestinian guerrilla leaders before announcing their position. None of the governments have yet commented officially on the plan, although unofficial reaction has been against it.

However, Iraq has called on Syria and Egypt to join it to stop the plan, which is said would destroy Arab unity.

The Cairo newspaper Al-Akhar described it as "the most dangerous development in the Middle East since the 1967 Arab-Israeli War."

UPI correspondent Maurice Guindi reported from Cairo that the government is taking a very cautious attitude on the Hussein plan. There has been no official comment so far and none is expected very soon.

Before attacking the plan in parliament, Mrs. Meir held an hour-long meeting with her cabinet. It went on so long her speech was delayed by 15 minutes.

"Jordan is making a mistake with this plan," she said. "It shows King Hussein has not learned a lesson in the last five years."

"There is only one way—serious negotiations leading to an agreement for peace, and Israel is ready for these negotiations at any time," she said.

Stock Sales Being Probed

NEW YORK (UPI)—Several top officers of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. sold more than $1.5 million of their stock in the company apparently soon after meetings or communications between ITT and government officials seeking a settlement of an antitrust suit. The New York Times reported today.

Although the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) does not comment on any investigations it may be conducting, the Times said its sources have told it the commission is investigating the stock sales by at least eight officers and directors.

SEC regulations forbid a company's officers from trading stocks on the basis of information not available to the public.

The Times said the fact that the stock had been sold was not new information. However, it said "the apparent link between specific dates of trading and of meetings or communications with the government was not evident before testimony was taken last week by the Senate Judiciary Committee."

That committee is investigating allegations that ITT pledged, through a subsidiary, up to $400,000 to help finance the Republican National Convention in return for favorable settlement of the antitrust case. ITT has denied the stock sales were unusual and maintains that clerical errors and coincidence accounted for the apparent closeness between the dates of meetings and communications between the company and the government and the sales of the stock, the Times said.

The Times said the alleged stock sales took place in the 11 weeks before the Justice Department announced July 31 that ITT had agreed to divest itself of some of its subsidiaries. "For some of the executives, it was their first sale of the stock since they joined the company," the newspaper said.

Before the announcement, ITT stock on the NYSE stood at $62. On Aug. 2, the first day of trading after the announcement, ITT stock slumped to $55, the Times said.

Two British Bomb Experts Open Car Door... Die Instantly

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—The booby-trapped car seemed safe enough to approach after two hours of delicate work. The two British army bomb experts opened the door—and died instantly.

An army spokesman said the men—Sgt. Christopher R. Cracknell, 29, and Sgt. Anthony Butcher—had been called to the Roman Catholic Falls Road area shortly after 6 p.m. Wednesday after a tip that a car there contained a "big bomb."

The men carefully examined the vehicle, the spokesman said, and then blew open the trunk with a small charge. But it was empty. The bomb was somewhere inside the car.

As they entered the car the bomb exploded with a roar and a flash, blowing them to bits. They were the 275th and 276th persons to die of violence in Northern Ireland since the crisis erupted in August, 1969.

An army patrol that rushed to the scene when the bomb exploded came under sniper fire for nearly 10 minutes. They returned fire but did not know if they hit the gunmen, an army spokesman said.

Both men were married and each had one child, the spokesman said. Cracknell had been in Northern Ireland three weeks but both were considered by the army as "very experienced" with explosive devices.
